High Court Rules Peters' Loyalty Firing Not Legal

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP)—The Supreme Court ruled today that Dr. John P. Peters, senior medicine professor at Yale University, was fired illegally on loyalty charges from a post as government health consultant.

In its 7-2 decision clearing Peters, the court avoided passing upon the constitutional issue of whether government employees may be ousted as security risks on the basis of secret evidence.

The opinion, written by Chief Justice Warren, held the old senior Loyalty Review Board stepped outside its authority in finding "reasonable doubt" as to Peters' loyalty. Peters had been cleared twice by lower boards.

"Informer" Practice Hit

Justices Black and Douglas voted with the majority but said in separate opinions that they favored passing upon constitutional questions. Douglas spoke bitterly against using "faceless informers" in security cases, contending this violates the Constitution.

Justices Reed and Burton, in a dissent, upheld the Peters' dismissal.

Peters was fired as an occasional consultant to the U. S. Public Health Service in May, 1953, under the old Truman administration loyalty program. The Supreme Court said it couldn't grant his request for reinstatement because his appointment would have ended Dec. 31, 1953, "wholly apart from his removal on loyalty grounds."

Peters "Gratified"

Prof. Fowler Harper of Yale's Law School, legal consultant for Peters, said Peters was "gratified and delighted that the court removed any stain upon his name." Peters was pictured as disappointed, however, that the high tribunal did not pass upon the constitutional issue of whether use of "anonymous informers" in security cases violated a citizen's rights.

Such a ruling could have had far-reaching effects upon the present federal employee security program under the Eisenhower administration.

Egypt Rejects Peace Talk Plan

CAIRO, Egypt, June 6 (AP)—Egypt said tonight she has rejected U. N. proposals for a conference of Egyptian and Israeli government officials to ease tension arising from clashes along the Gaza strip.

Col. Salah Gohar, government spokesman, said Egypt prefers to continue negotiations through the commission set up under the U. N.-sponsored armistice agreement.

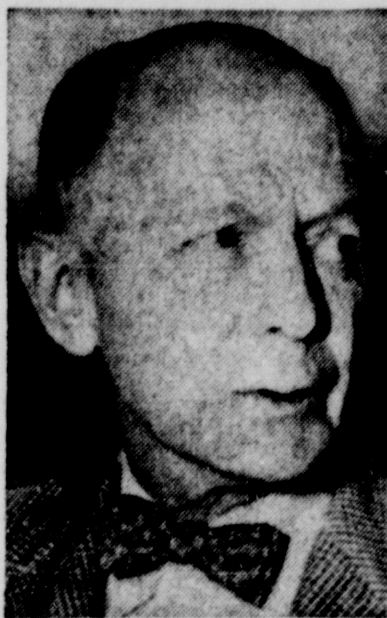

(Israeli Premier Moshe Sharett released in Jerusalem a message to U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld charging that Egyptian rejection of the government officials' conference "lays her open to a charge of bad faith." Sharett was replying to Hammarskjöld's appeal to both countries for restraint. He said he was about to confer again with Gen. Edson L. M. Burns of Canada, U. N. armistice supervisor.)

Gohar complained that Israel still is boycotting meetings of the Mixed Armistice Commission presided over by Gen. Burns. Gohar is Egypt's representative on the commission.

Egypt has long opposed any Egyptian-Israeli talks on the prime minister or cabinet minister level on the ground they would be a disguised form of peace conference.

Break In British Rail Strike Seen Under Peace Plan

LONDON, June 6 (AP)—A break in Britain's stalemated nine-day old railway strike appeared possible tonight under a peace plan laid down by the giant Trades Union Congress.

Under the plan, the rival railway unions were called upon to smooth over their own differences paving the way for direct talks with the British Transport Commission which runs the trains.

Leaders of TUC, who have been working closely with Prime Minister Eden said they would suggest he allow the commission to negotiate while the strike was still on, once the rail unions bury their own feuds.

67,000 Railmen On Strike

Sixty-seven thousand locomotive engineers and firemen are striking for pay raises to give them a wider differential over other grades of rail workers.

TUC suggested the strikers of the Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen begin negotiations with the Transport Commission right away with the understanding other rail workers represented by the National Union of Railwaymen would be consulted before a settlement was reached.

Eden has expressed fears rivalry between the unions would lead to an "endless succession" of demands for pay increases.

Ship Voyages Cancelled

The turn in the rail strike came as Britain's industrial strife carried clear across the Atlantic to upset holiday plans of thousands of dollar-spending Americans counting on a vacation in Europe.

Cunard Line canceled roundtrip voyages of three luxury passenger liners heavily booked by European vacationers in the United States. Thousands of Americans and would-be emigrants already have been left stranded in English ports—some in dire straits.

The ship cancellations came as Britain shook under industrial strife with railwaymen, stevedores and seamen striking in disputes that have stirred up rivalries among the trade unionists themselves.

Baseball "Classic"

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP)—Washington's Democratic baseball players, undefeated in the seven-year history of the only "World Series" the capital has seen since 1933, take on the perennial Republican challengers tomorrow with a brand new pitcher on the firing line.

He's Rep. Torbert MacDonald, a freshman House member from Massachusetts. MacDonald, who is 38 today, is a Harvard man.

Gone from the Democratic line-up is former Rep. Don (Fireball) Wheeler, who pitched a no hitter against the congressional Democrats won, 2-1, last year. Wheeler's replacement in Congress is unlikely to replace him on the baseball field.

July 18 Opening Date Suggested In Note To USSR

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP)—The United States, Britain and France formally proposed to Russia today that the Big Four heads of government meet at Geneva for four days beginning July 18.

Even as the joint note went out, Secretary of State Dulles said he is doubtful that the "meeting at the summit" will relax dangerous international tensions.

Western powers had said earlier they would be willing to meet at Geneva, despite previous U. S. objections to that site because it stands as a symbol of the Indo-Chinese truce, which the United States opposed.

In today's formal invitation, the three Western governments said they now proposed Geneva as the site for the conference "in the light of divergent views with respect to where the meeting might be held."

Compromise Choice

Russia had suggested Vienna as the meeting place and the West in turn had proposed Lausanne, Switzerland. In formally proposing Geneva as a compromise choice, the Western governments said "there are excellent facilities for a meeting of this importance" in the Swiss city, which has been host to numerous international meetings.

"An early reply would be very much appreciated in order to permit the necessary arrangements to be made with the government of Switzerland, which has informed the three governments that the holding of such a meeting in Geneva on the dates set forth above is agreeable," the note added.

Ministers Meet June 16

A few hours earlier, the State Department announced Dulles will meet with the British and French foreign ministers in New York for two days beginning June 16, to help prepare for the long-awaited Big Four session.

The conference will bring together President Eisenhower and the Premiers of Russia, Britain and France.

Addressing University of South Carolina commencement exercises, Dulles said he hopes the meeting will be "useful, surely the United States will do all in its power to make it so."

However, after noting that Soviet rulers have described the conference as "designed to relax international tensions," Dulles asserted: "But I am doubtful about the 'relaxing' part of the Soviet formula."

State Dept. Grants Nathan Passport

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP)—The State Department granted a passport today to Dr. Otto Nathan, executor of the will of Dr. Albert Einstein, who has been trying for 2½ years for travel authority.

The U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals last week had ordered the department to give Dr. Nathan a hearing before tomorrow and if a passport was denied to state reasons why.

The State Department announced today said the case had been presented to the Passport Appeals Board and after receiving the board's recommendations the application was approved and passport issued.

Earlier the Federal District Court here had issued an unprecedented order for the State Department to approve the passport to Dr. Nathan. The State Department appealed to the higher court.

French Claims New 'Copter Altitude Mark

PARIS, June 6 (AP)—The French claimed a new helicopter altitude record of 27,258 feet today.

The flight was made by the Alouette II, equipped with a French turbojet engine. The pilot was Jean Boulet.

The International Aeronautic Federation said the existing record of 24,664 feet was set at Dayton, Ohio, Sept. 2, 1953, by U. S. Air Force Capt. Russell M. Dobyns in a Piasecki machine.

Polio Vaccine For 1,000,000 Shots Cleared

Fresh Lilly Serum Is First Released Under Safety Rules

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP)—The Public Health Service today cleared approximately one million cubic centimeters of Salk polio vaccine—enough for about a million shots—for immediate distribution.

The cleared vaccine is the product of the Eli Lilly Co., Indianapolis. It is the first release of fresh vaccine—as contrasted with a re-clearance of previously distributed vaccine—in the on-again off-again program since before May 4.

Today's action also marked the first release of any new vaccine since new standards for producing and testing were developed and accepted by manufacturers 10 days ago.

Earlier Reclearances

On June 1, 200,000 cc's of unused vaccine previously distributed by Pittman-Moore of Zionsville, Ind., and Wyeth, Inc., of Marietta, Pa., were cleared for use. There had been earlier reclearances May 13 and 15.

A Public Health Service spokesman said allocation of today's vaccine for use in the free program for first and second grade school children will be up to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. The foundation is currently receiving all the vaccine being cleared and recleared.

On Saturday Dr. G. F. McGinnes, a foundation consultant, said the next batch of vaccine released would go to the five states in which first and second graders have not been inoculated.

He named these states as New Jersey, Maine, Montana, North Dakota and South Dakota.

Mrs. Hobby To Report

Secretary of Welfare Hobby and the surgeon-general will make a report to the people on the vaccine situation tomorrow night.

Mrs. Hobby and Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele will join in a 15-minute television and radio broadcast tomorrow at 6:15 p.m. EST over CBS and Dumont TV and Mutual and NBC radio.

A Welfare Department spokesman said Mrs. Hobby and Dr. Scheele will "tell the American public what the situation is—put it into focus as they see it."

Meanwhile the Senate Labor Committee agreed to hold two days of hearings on conflicting proposals for free vaccine for children.

Certified Mail Service Begins

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP)—The Post Office Department put its new certified mail service into formal operation today. It is a cheaper and simpler form of registered mail.

For 15 cents, plus regular postage, the Post Office will make a record of the delivery of certified mail. The records will be kept available for six months, in case the sender needs to establish proof of delivery.

On registered mail, the fee begins at 30 cents. The sender automatically gets a receipt of delivery, and his mail is kept under guard. Certified mail will not be guarded.

The new plan is intended to use registered mail service for items of real value; certified mail will be for items not having actual monetary value.

The 15-cent certified mail stamp bears the likeness of a carrier on his route. The model was Robert S. Brancor, 39-year-old Washington mailman who is the first living postal employee to be pictured on a stamp.

Ford Workers Told Of Agreement

Carl Stellato (above others to right of American flag), Ford Local 600 President, tells Ford Workers at Detroit of new agreement reached yesterday between the UAW and the Ford Motor Company. The men walked out on their jobs to attend the meeting outside the Rouge plant. They returned to their jobs after the meeting.

U.S. Steel And Union Launch Talks Today

PITTSBURGH, June 6 (AP)—The CIO United Steelworkers, "unanimously determined to achieve a substantial wage increase" and a "peaceful settlement," open wage talks tomorrow with a busy and profitable steel industry.

The big union starts negotiations with U. S. Steel Corp. and expects to begin talks with five other big steel producing firms immediately afterward.

The union's negotiating committee held a "final strategy" meeting today and President David J. McDonald issued this statement:

"The negotiating committee of the United Steelworkers of America...voiced unanimous determination to achieve a substantial wage increase in negotiations with the steel companies before the wage agreement expires June 30."

The committee adopted a resolution including a phrase of "no contract, no work," but McDonald said negotiators are prepared "to meet day and night if necessary to conclude mutually satisfactory agreements."

The union has never given any indication of what it would consider "substantial" in the way of a wage settlement for its 600,000 members employed by 96 basic steel firms and iron ore mining companies.

However, observers in the steel industry feel the union will make initial demands for as much as 25 cents more an hour and settle for something between 10 and 12 cents. Steelworkers now earn an average of $2.33 hourly.

Both union and industrial officials seem confident the wage issue will be settled without a costly strike. The industry now is operating near capacity.

The other companies scheduled to meet with the union in Pittsburgh are Bethlehem, Republic, Jones & Laughlin, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, and Inland.

For the first time in the union's history, McDonald will head negotiations with all six companies.

In the past, McDonald met with U. S. Steel, and let district directors handle negotiations with other firms.

Beaten Woman Gets Kidnap Threat Note

PORTLAND, Ore., June 6 (AP)—A kidnap threat note was left at the house of the daughter of a millionaire Portland manufacturer by a man after he had beaten the woman and one of her three small children with a gun early today.

Detective Sergeant Dan Mitola said the note informed Mrs. Lillian Weinstein, a divorcee, her children would be all right if she produced "$20,000 in old notes."

Mrs. Weinstein is the daughter of Sam J. Zidell, head of the Zidell Machinery & Supply Co., Portland.

Mitola said the man entered by a window the room in which Mrs. Weinstein; her daughter, Leslie, 10, and twin sons, Robert and Richard, 6, were sleeping.

Martin And Lewis Breakup Seen Near

HOLLYWOOD, June 6 (AP)—The four-million-dollar-a-year comedy team of Martin and Lewis was reported today on the verge of breakup.

Dean and Jerry have feuded before and made up but this time a close friend said: "It looks like the end."

Lewis, reached by phone, confirmed that he is going alone today to Brown's Resort in New York's Catskill Mountains for the premiere of "You're Never Too Young," the team's latest picture.

Dean is taking his wife to Honolulu tomorrow.

Most of the Martin-Lewis feuds have started over movies. Some of the parts given Martin have relegated him to a second fiddle role to Lewis.

Agreement Reported Near On Trade Bill

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP)—A concession by senators today reportedly cleared the way for quick final agreement on President Eisenhower's foreign trade bill—one of the key measures on his 1955 program.

Sen. Byrd (D-Va.) said after an afternoon session of a Senate-House Conference Committee he believed a final agreement would be worked out at tomorrow's session.

Another source reported that the conferees had agreed in principle—with the final formal vote to be taken tomorrow—to alter an amendment of Sen. Miliken (R-Colo.) which has been the chief stumbling block to agreement.

Answer To Red Threat?

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson hinted indirectly today at the possibility of a speedup in production of jet fighter planes capable of coping with Russia's new long range, high speed H-bombers.

In a news conference, Wilson was asked whether, in addition to expediting the production rate for the Air Force B 52 heavy bombers, there would be a step up in production of other planes.

He had two answers: 1. "We are taking a very good look at everything we are doing," including a twice-a-year review of all aircraft production programs.

2. The Air Force has not recommended a speedup of plane production other than the B 52 "yet."

When newsmen questioned him specifically about the possibility of expediting production of the F100 Super Sabre, Wilson sparred with an answer, saying that he didn't want to generate "too much pressure" about that matter.

Earlier today, Wilson took to a Senate appropriations subcommittee a Pentagon request for 356 million dollars to increase production of the B 52 intercontinental bombers. It had been announced previously there would be a 35 per cent increase in rate of production for the B 52.

Strike Halted By Agreement On Wage Plan

Settlement Provides Funds For Payments To Laid-Off Workers

DETROIT, June 6 (AP)—The Ford Motor Co. today broke ground in American industry for the guaranteed wage plan in a history-making strike settlement pact with Walter Reuther's CIO United Auto Workers Union.

The plan calls for the company to establish a $5 million dollar fund during a three-year contract period to finance payments to workers idled from their jobs, supplementing state unemployment compensation benefits.

The historic agreement was reached at mid-day, after all-night bargaining sessions, with about half of Ford's 140,000 workers on strike. They began the walkout after last night's midnight expiration of Ford's prior five-year contract.

The settlement brought quick back-to-work orders from the union, and the men responded by returning to their jobs. Some stayed away, however, in apparent celebration of the agreement, after a huge mass meeting outside the Rouge plant, largest in the Ford empire, at Dearborn, Mich.

Plan Is Compromise
Ford's guaranteed wage plan represents a compromise. It supplements state jobless payments for only a 26-week period, or half a year, compared with Reuther's original demand for a full annual pay guarantee for laid-off workers.

Neither are the company payments as high as Reuther wanted. He held out for combined company and state payments aggregating 80 per cent of a worker's take-home pay. The final deal called for an aggregate of 60 to 65 per cent.

However, both Reuther and John S. Bugas, Ford vice president for industrial relations, hailed the plan as an important new idea for safeguarding the income security of workers.

Bugas said Ford agreed to pioneer the idea only "after a great internal debate" within the company and a final realization that "we had some special responsibilities to our employees."

"Ford In GM's Future"

Employers have been solidly resisting union demands for guaranteed wage plans and the Ford contract represents the first major employer concession in their regard.

Reuther immediately laid plans to press for similar settlement terms at the giant General Motors Corp. as a first step toward spreading the guaranteed wage plan throughout the auto industry and to other mass production industries with CIO unions. Reuther also heads the CIO.

"There's a Ford in GM's future," Reuther said with a grin.

There were hints, however, that GM may resist despite a strike deadline at midnight tomorrow. A top union official said that GM has made no guaranteed wage plan offer of any kind in separate bargaining sessions.

Prison Uprising Is Short-Lived

IONIA, Mich., June 6 (AP)—Four armed convicts injured two guards and seized two employees as hostages in a short-lived uprising at Ionia State Reformatory today. The institution has 1,000-plus inmates.

Guard Justin Wright, 51, cracked over the head with an iron bar, was in serious condition at an Ionia hospital. Guard Earnest Chase, 63, was able to return to duty after first aid for his injuries.

Warden Garrett Heyns said the four convicts started a ruckus in their cells high in the prison, and that when Wright went to investigate he was struck with the iron bar.

Chase, who followed Wright in, was attacked in turn.

Then the convicts got Wright's keys, left the guards, and made their way to a storeroom on the ground floor. There, armed with two knives and a pair of scissors, they grabbed storekeepers Jerry Cusack and John Hayden.

Warden Heyns confronted the quartet as they held Cusack and Hayden at knife and scissor point, and talked them into releasing the storekeepers. Heyns agreed to meet with them and hear their complaints.

Three ended up in solitary confinement. The fourth was sent to the reformatory hospital for X-rays of a stomach injury he complained he suffered in the melee with the guards.

Scelba Party Posts Gain In Sicily Voting

Premier's Forces Win Seven New Seats

PALERMO, Sicily, June 6 (AP)—Premier Mario Scelba's pro-western Christian Democrat party marked up a big gain tonight in complete returns from Sicily's regional assembly elections.

The Christian Democrats, facing their biggest test since the 1953 Italian general election, captured seven new seats in the island's semi-autonomous Assembly. They had 30 seats in the old 90-seat Assembly. The Communists and fellow-traveling Socialists were held to their previous strength—30 seats.

The Christian Democrats registered their big gains in yesterday's voting at the expense of the neo-Fascists and the minor center parties.

Complete returns from the island's 4,201 voting sections gave these results:

Christian Democrats, 895,318 38.6 per cent.

Communists, 481,975 20.8 per cent.

Socialists, 225,944 9.7 per cent.

National Monarchist, 238,957 10.3 per cent.

MSI (neo-Fascist), 222,664 9.6 per cent.

Liberals, 91,739 3.9 per cent.

Social-Democrat Republicans, 72,365 3.1 per cent.

Popular Monarchists, 56,116 2.4 per cent.

Other votes were scattered among splinter parties.

The vote was the biggest ever won by Christian Democrats on this island. It does not give them control of the Assembly but strengthens their position sharply.

WEST POINT, N. Y., June 6 (AP)—President Eisenhower marched, dined and reminisced happily with fellow West Point alumni on this 11th anniversary of "a big day in my life"—the 1944 Normandy invasion.

Back at the United States Military Academy for a reunion with his classmates of 1915 and to deliver the commencement address to this year's graduates tomorrow, the President also took part in solemn ceremonies honoring the West Point dead.

Then he and his fellow alumni of many academy classes reviewed the Corps of Cadets as they marched by in the warm, brilliant sunlight which bathed the Plain, the historic parade ground. After the review Eisenhower walked across the street to the home of Lt. Gen. Blackshear Bryan, the academy superintendent, where he told two cadets:

"You know, this is a big day in my life. June 6 is D-Day, the day we attacked across the (English) channel, and my son graduated from West Point that same day."

His son is Army Maj. John Eisenhower, now stationed at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., and soon to take up a new post at Ft. Belvoir, Va., a few miles from Washington.

Marland Reports No West Virginia Deficit Is Likely

CHARLESTON, W. Va., June 6 (AP)—It appears that West Virginia will finish the current fiscal year in the black June 30, despite the worries of state officials about declining revenues.

Gov. William C. Marland disclosed at a news conference that he expects the State's fiscal operations for the past 12 months to balance out, largely because of his previous order that spending units withhold a 5-per cent cushion.

"The 5-per cent reserve," said the governor, "has done just what it was designed to do. I am fairly confident we won't have a deficit."

Marland kept firmly quiet on the subject of what will happen to Road Commissioner Keith Griffith, President Joe F. Burdett of the Board of Control and Public Service Commissioner C. E. Nethken.

The terms of all three are running out this month, and Marland has made no move toward replacing or re-appointing any one of them.

Judge Nethken's term already has expired. Those of Burdett and Griffith have until June 30 to run.

The governor said he was under the impression he had already appointed Frank B. King as chairman of the State Liquor Control Commission.

Convinced that he had not, however, he issued the formal appointment in mid-afternoon to King, a resident of Morgantown and former chief of the State Mines Department.

King was refused confirmation by the State Senate in March as mines chief, but confirmed later in the special session of the Legislature as a member of the liquor commission.

Some of the governor's optimism about economic conditions obviously stemmed from a report—as yet unpublished—on West Virginia's industrial potential. The Massachusetts firm of Arthur D. Little, Inc., undertook the survey and Marland said he had seen "a pretty good synopsis" of the report.

Pennsylvanian Freed In Death Of Divorcee

CAMBRIDGE, Md., June 6 (AP)—A Pennsylvania construction worker was freed today of manslaughter charges brought in the death of a Cambridge woman May 21.

Trial Magistrate J. Otis McAllister dismissed the charges against John Jacob Murray, 24-year-old construction worker from Columbia, Pa.

He told police the woman, a 32-year-old Cambridge divorcee, had jumped from a truck. She was identified in the warrant as Geraldine Ferrare Moore and also was known as Geraldine Moore Golt.

The woman was found on the highway by Bernard Allen Cohen, 24, of Baltimore, who testified he could not avoid hitting her as she lay in the highway.

The woman was pronounced dead at Cambridge Hospital. Dr. Alfred Maryanov, assistant medical examiner, told the court he could not tell which of several injuries was responsible for the woman's death. He said toxicologist's report showed her blood contained sufficient alcohol to make her in a "confused state, dizzy and delirious."

Airliner Forced Back

SHANNON, Ireland, Tuesday, June 7 (AP)—A Pan American airliner bound for New York was forced by engine trouble to turn back when 420 miles out over the Atlantic early today.

The plane carried 31 passengers and a crew of 9. Airlines officials said it was returning on three of its four engines and "We have nothing to worry about."

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP)—The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People will file suits during September against any Maryland counties which fail to move "in good faith" toward public school desegregation, a spokesman said today.

Robert B. Watts, Maryland representative at an NAACP meeting in Atlanta last weekend, said individual situations will have to be considered to determine what constitutes a "step in good faith."

The NAACP, he said, will be moderate in its approach. Little difficulty is anticipated by the organization in Maryland, Watts added.

House Members Eat W. Va. Strawberries

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP)—House members—or most of them—got a serving of West Virginia strawberries today thanks to Rep. Bailey (D-W.Va.).

Bailey brought back some 96 quarts, after attending yesterday the 14th annual Buchanan Strawberry Festival, for House members eating in the House restaurant.

Mingled with expressions of appreciation, Bailey said, were expressions of disappointment from some 15 or 20 members who failed to reach the restaurant in time for a serving.

"I figured 96 quarts were enough," Bailey said, "but some members must have had friends along for lunch."

High School Student Held In $9,300 Theft

LONG BEACH, Calif., June 6 (AP)—James T. Joiner, 19, student body president of Wilson High School is in jail today. Police said he and a friend robbed a restaurant and a loan company of $9,300.

Detective Lorin Martin said Jimmy Workman, 19, was arrested Friday and implicated Joiner. Both are booked on suspicion of armed robbery.

Martin said the pair took $8,400 from a restaurant May 22 and $900 from a loan office April 26.

School authorities said Joiner was a better than average student. He had supported himself the past two years.

NAACP Plans Suits If Md. Counties Defy High Court

BALTIMORE, June 6 (AP)—The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People will file suits during September against any Maryland counties which fail to move "in good faith" toward public school desegregation, a spokesman said today.

Robert B. Watts, Maryland representative at an NAACP meeting in Atlanta last weekend, said individual situations will have to be considered to determine what constitutes a "step in good faith."

The NAACP, he said, will be moderate in its approach. Little difficulty is anticipated by the organization in Maryland, Watts added.

He said the NAACP will press for actual integration of white and Negro students in every county. But he added there might be cases in which a school system will have to postpone integration for sound administrative reasons.

In these cases, Watts said, his organization will have to determine that school officials are planning "in good faith" to desegregate. If such evidence is missing, or if a county openly defies the U. S. Supreme Court order for a "prompt and reasonable start" toward desegregation, then the NAACP will file suit in Federal Court, he said.

Watts said the organization recognizes that there are greater administrative problems on the Eastern Shore and in southern Maryland counties, which have large Negro populations, than in central and western Maryland counties.

He indicated the NAACP would seek faster action in counties with smaller numbers of Negro children.

Drive By Diem's Forces Shatters Hoa Hao Army

SAIGON, South Viet Nam, June 6 (AP)—Units of the Hoa Hao religious sect's private army under command of rebel Gen. Tran Van Soai were reported disintegrating today under a relentless drive of the national army of Premier Ngo Dinh Diem.

Government sources said hundreds of Soai's men are surrendering. About 100 have been killed in action. Government losses have been reported as 8 dead and 50 wounded since the attack on Soai's army began Sunday.

Gen. Tran Van Don, deputy chief of staff of the national army, said 600 men making up two Hoa Hao companies surrendered today and hundreds more laid down their arms yesterday. Soai's total force is estimated at 5,000 men. Pitted against them are about 20,000 government troops.

Gen. Don announced that the infant Vietnamese air force participated in the offensive yesterday. Four French manufactured biplanes piloted by Vietnamese officers machinegunned and strafed Soai's retreating troops near Cai Von, his principle base on the Bassac River.

Other Hoa Hao troops under command of Gen. Lam Thanh Nguyen were turned over to the national army. They number about 2,500. Gen. Nguyen has avoided military revolt against Premier Diem, saying his opposition to the premier is purely political. Gen. Nguyen controls a rich area south of Chaudoc on the Cambodian border.

Smokers Who Quit Reduce Cancer Risk, Study Reveals

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 6 (AP)—Give up cigarettes, and you probably cut your risk of getting lung cancer, the American Cancer Society's top statisticians declared today.

This is indicated by the latest figures in the society's study of about 190,000 men and their smoking habits, said Drs. E. Cuyler Hammond and Daniel Horn.

Hammond said it appears "The death rate from lung cancer goes up the more persons smoke, and goes down as they quit the habit."

He told a news conference he and Horn were surprised to find, so soon in the study, evidence that quitting reduces the death rate from cancer.

In another year, "it appears we will have enough data to demonstrate this conclusively. We may have enough right now," he said.

The study embraced many persons who had quit smoking at the time first interviewed. Some had not smoked for years, some had just quit. And some of the deaths among ex-smokers apparently were in men who had just quit, perhaps because they already had symptoms of lung cancer, statisticians said.

Among some 25,000 ex-smokers, the lung cancer death rate in the last three years was only half as high as among men who kept smoking cigarettes, they find. The death rate among the ex-smokers still was 14 times higher, though, than among men who had never smoked.

"It seems probable that even after years of regular cigarettes smoking, giving up the habit may result in a reduction in the risk of developing lung cancer," Drs. Hammond and Horn told the American Medical Assn.

But they declared more cases are needed and must be studied before it can be said to be "proven beyond reasonable doubt" that quitting reduces the chances of developing cancer.

The Hammond-Horn report a year ago covered 20 months and about 5,000 deaths. Today's report covers 32 months and more than 8,000 deaths.

A spokesman for the tobacco industry declared the ACS study does not "establish any cause and effect relationship" between cigarettes and lung cancer, and said the statistical study ignored many factors which may affect disease and longevity.

Main findings of the ACS study: Lung cancer is rare among men who never smoked, and the death rate from lung cancer increases with the amount of cigarettes smoked. Even these smoking less than 10 cigarettes daily run an appreciable risk of lung cancer.

There is evidence now that pipe smoking "appears to be associated with lung cancer," but to a much lesser degree than cigarettes.

As for cigars, no significant association has been detected.

Do pension funds and insurance companies own common stocks?

Question submitted by N. D. Carmichael, Columbia Heights, Minn., Teletype Supervisor.

Yes, many insurance companies and pension funds own common stocks today. So do many other "institutions"—foundations, school and college endowment funds, hospitals, religious and charitable organizations and some savings banks. Also banks administering personal trusts hold large amounts of common stocks.

Today institutions of all types hold about one-fourth of all common stocks listed on the N. Y. Stock Exchange. Their stocks have a market value of about $40 billion. Some university endowment funds have more than half of their investments in common stocks.

Of course, almost all institutions diversify their investments with preferred stocks and bonds as well. Many of these are also listed on the Stock Exchange. These securities generally involve less risk than common stocks—though the return is usually smaller.

Perhaps you've been thinking about investing in common stocks. Before you do, be sure you know the facts about the companies you're considering. A Member Firm of the Exchange will gladly furnish facts without cost and will help you plan an investment that suits your objectives.

Workers' Strike Over Wage Slash Closes Silk Mill

WILLIAMSPORT, June 6 (AP)—Federal Silk Mills, closed for nearly three months in the winter of 1953-54, was shut down again today when its 125 employees walked out in protest of a posted wage reduction.

Hugh Brown, assistant regional director of the CIO Textile Workers Union, said the walkout was called after owner David Goetz posted a new pay scale. Brown said the new scale "represented a 40 per cent cut" in pay.

The workers have been without a contract since Feb. 17 and seven conferences between union and management, the last May 16, have been unsuccessful, Brown said.

Goetz issued a statement in which he said "business is bad," and the company and union reached an impasse May 16 because of a management proposed change in the method of paying weavers "in the interest of efficiency and production," and economic circumstances.

Brown said Goetz refused to sign a new contract unless union security and dues checkoff were eliminated and unless all paid vacations, daily overtime and an arbitration clause were eliminated.

Brown said management also wanted the workers to increase their weekly insurance contribution but offered no benefit increase. The silk mill, which makes zipper and mattress tapes and millinery trade ribbons, was closed from late December, 1953, until March of 1954 by a contract dispute and Goetz at one time threatened to close the business entirely.

He then employed 411. Only 125 are currently employed. The present wage was not disclosed. But Brown said Goetz had proposed reducing the pay scale on two looms to 90 cents an hour, on three looms to $1.00 an hour and on eight others to $1.25 an hour.

Inspection Planned In Zoning Dispute

ROCKVILLE, June 6 (AP)—An inspection of a 1.2 acre tract at Wisconsin Ave. and Bradley Blvd., Bethesda, is planned tomorrow by the Montgomery County Council to help decide a zoning dispute.

A change from residential classification to commercial use of the land is proposed, reportedly for erecting a hotel on the southwest corner tract.

Residents of the area in opposing the application contend granting the application would open the way for commercialization of the avenue south about one mile to the District line. Residents have been able in the past to hold the Bethesda business line at Bradley Ave.

Leopard Cub Dies At Baltimore Zoo

BALTIMORE, June 6 (AP)—The first leopard born at the Baltimore zoo died over the weekend and an autopsy was to be performed today to determine what killed the 1½-pound cub.

The cat's mother had refused to care for the baby and Zoo Director Arthur Watson had placed it in one of the several private homes which volunteer to help raise young animals.

Watson said the cub appeared cold and weak after it was taken from the leopard den.

Anne Arundel County Resumes Inoculations

ANNAPOLIS, June 6 (AP)—Anne Arundel County plans to resume its first-round of polio vaccinations for school children tomorrow following government clearance of enough vaccine to do the job.

Dr. J. Howard Beard, county health officer, said clinics will be held during the next four days to vaccinate a majority of 2,000 children before the end of school Friday. The remainder will be vaccinated Monday. The county had given first shots to 4,500 before the program was halted at government request in early May.

Dr. Beard said the U. S. Public Health Service had approved release of a batch of vaccine from the Wyeth Laboratories in Marietta, Pa., which the county has on hand to complete the job.

Accused Teacher Held For Grand Jury

BETHESDA, Md., June 6 (AP)—George H. Bradford, 29, Montgomery County school teacher, was held today for grand jury action on a charge of assault with intent to rape a 13-year-old girl.

Bradford was held under $5,000 bond after a preliminary hearing before Trial Magistrate John B. Diamond III.

Baltimore Tunnel Work Is Moving On Schedule

BALTIMORE, June 6 (AP)—A progress report today on Baltimore's harbor tunnel showed excavation has started on the terminals and fabrication work is underway on the tunnel sections.

The tunnel between the Canton and Fairfield sections, due to open in December, 1957, is aimed at speeding traffic through Baltimore. Bruce Herman, project engineer, said work has been moving on schedule since groundbreaking April 1.

Negro May Face Rape Indictment

TOWSON, Md., June 6 (AP)—State's Atty. John E. Raine Jr. said today he will go before the grand jury next Monday to seek an indictment against a 21-year-old Negro charged with the rape and stabbing of a 12-year-old white girl.

Robert Jackson of Monkton has been charged with the attack which Raine said occurred last Saturday near Loch Raven Reservoir.

Raine called the case "a bad one in every particular" and said police are awaiting the results of scientific tests.

Jackson was arrested at White Hall, about 10 miles from the scene of the alleged attack late Saturday. Police said they found pornographic pictures in the glove compartment of his car.

The girl who was riding her bicycle told police she was dragged into a woods and assaulted and stabbed three times in the throat.

She was treated at Union Memorial Hospital in Baltimore and released. She later viewed six men in a lineup at the Towson Police station. Jackson was charged with rape and with assault with intent to kill. He is being held without bond in the Baltimore County Jail.

Washington County Road Swap Approved

HAGERSTOWN, June 6 (AP)—Washington County was advised today the State Roads Commission has approved a swap of certain state roads for county roads.

E. Eugene Geary, county superintendent of roads said he had been informed the roads commission approved a resolution providing for an exchange of about 19 miles of county roads for about 30 miles of state highways.

Under the swap, the county takes over maintenance of the state roads involved and the state will maintain the roads it took over from the county.

The proposal, first advanced more than a month ago, was opposed by a group of Hancock citizens who threatened court action if it went through.

The group was not available for comment today.

Amoco announces a new way to make gas, a new conception of octane

A few short months ago a man pressed a button... the words "on stream" echoed from place to place... and a new petroleum giant came to life. Oil pulsed through its arteries. And at Texas City, Texas, the world's largest multi-million dollar Ultraforming unit had begun creating the new Amoco-Gas.

From this mighty oil refinery has come a new, high-octane gas... made by a patented method, the most advanced known to science. A clear, white gas with such natural anti-knock quality that it is the only gas that meets modern car engine needs without the use of lead. It's the new Ultraformed Amoco-Gas.

STANDARD ONE-CYLINDER LABORATORY TEST ENGINE

This universal "Octane Rating" engine accurately determines the octane rating of every gas—in the laboratory. It does not measure the harmful effects of lead deposits in an automobile engine.

It tells only half of octane story

THE REAL TEST ENGINE IS IN YOUR CAR ON THE ROAD!

You can only measure the usable octane value of any gas in an automobile engine in use. Here leaded gas can cause metallic deposits that waste octane. All the octane value of new no-lead Amoco-Gas is usable road octane—none is wasted. You get an Octane Bonus on the road.

Your car engine tells whole story

And this great new premium motor fuel couldn't have been born at a more appropriate time. It answers all the bewilderment about octane in a clear, simple way.

The Octane you've heard about—until now

The octane ratings you hear about are laboratory ratings. They are ratings obtained by adding lead. But lead doesn't all burn up. It leaves harmful deposits that can turn your engine into an octane trap—a trap that catches and wastes octane!

The Octane BONUS of the new, unleaded Amoco-Gas

Pure, no-lead Amoco-Gas can all burn—every drop. None is wasted fighting lead deposits. All its octane-energy can go to turn the wheels—it's all usable "road octane."

That's the only practical way to measure octane. That's why we say the new Ultraformed Amoco-Gas gives you an Octane Bonus... on the road, where it counts.

Try it—it does something wonderful for your car!

The white gas with the Octane BONUS!

Wegman Is Named Assistant Fire Chief

Capt. Vincent H. Wegman yesterday was named acting assistant chief of the Fire Department.

The Mayor and Council approved the appointment on recommendation of Commissioner William V. Keegan who said Wegman has been acting assistant for 15 months and "has done an excellent job."

The appointment is effective until such time as the Civil Service Commission holds an examination and a permanent appointee named.

Council received two bids to supply road oil for use of the Street Department, and they were referred to City Engineer Charles R.

Nuzm and Commissioner William H. Buchholz for tabulation and report.

Bidding were Garland Petroleum Company and Chaney Transportation Company. The Garland bid was listed at $1047 a gallon and the Chaney bid at $105 a gallon.

Two bids were received for razing and removal of eight dwellings on Riverside Place, sites of which are needed for the flood control project.

One bid was rejected because it was not on the proper form and did not contain a certified check as required in the advertisement.

The rejected bid was from Harry M. Lewis, Terra Alta, W. Va., who offered to pay the city $300 provided he received materials in the houses.

Referred to the city engineer, and street commissioners for tabulation and report was the bid of Frank J. Brown Jr., Eugene Friend and George Weaver, RD 3 Valley Road and Williams Road, whose bid would require to city to pay them $400.

Council also granted Buchholz authority to advertise for bids on a tractor which, he said, is needed for work on the city dump.

City officials heard a complaint from Roy A. Lewis, 700 Montreal Avenue, who charged that area is becoming a "flood district" because of water flowing off Blackiston Avenue and from the Jane Frazier Village during heavy rains. During the last storm, he said, the basements of eight dwellings were flooded. He added he would take the matter "to the law" if something wasn't done about it.

Petition Is Filed Against Beer License

A remonstrance signed by 72 persons against issuance of a beer license to Gladys M. Warnick for premises near Valley High School, Lonaconing, has been filed with the Allegany County Board of Alcoholic Beverage License Commissioners.

The woman held a beer license for premises on Railroad Street, Lonaconing, in 1952. No date for a hearing has been set by the board.

Today the board will hear a remonstrance against the John H. Murphy Restaurant Company which has applied for transfer of its license from the Queen City Hotel to premises at 116 Harrison Street. The proposed new business place was formerly the location of the Trozzo Restaurant.

The remonstrance, signed by 24 residents of that area, cite its proximity to three churches and the State Guard Armory where teenagers attend skating parties. Another remonstrance filed by residents of the Cresaptown area against Charles M. Evans, who sought a beer permit, has been cancelled. Evans has withdrawn his application for a license.

Rev. Wetmore Ordained In Session At Parkersburg

Arthur D. Wetmore, pastor of the local Seventh-Day Adventist Church, 41 Oak Street, was ordained to the gospel ministry Saturday at the denomination's annual session in Parkersburg.

The pastor was one of three invested with full ecclesiastical authority. The others were Dale M. Ingersoll, of Parkersburg, state Adventist youth director, and William Snider, pastor of the Buchanan Seventh-Day Adventist Church.

Dan A. Ochs, of Washington, president of the Columbia Union Conference of Adventists, gave the ordination address and ministerial charge. The prayer was offered by James E. Chase, associate secretary of the radio and TV department of the denomination, Washington.

Adam F. Ruf, president of the West Virginia Conference, gave the official welcome to the ordained ministers.

The ordination service was the highlight of a crowded Saturday schedule at the annual parley of the church. More than 1,000 attended the encampment which opened Thursday evening.

Pastor Wetmore has served as local pastor since February 1954, coming here from Clarksburg where he served two-and-one-half years. A native of Port Allegany, Pa., he is a graduate of Mt. Vernon Academy, Mt. Vernon, Ohio, and Washington Missionary College where he received his B.A. in theology and B.A. in business administration in 1951.

Since coming to Cumberland, Wetmore has been instrumental in planning for a new church edifice for the Adventist congregation. A plot has been purchased at the corner of Hilltop Drive and Carolina Avenue.

Airport Damage From Races Is Reported Light

Warren R. Mullenax, manager of Cumberland Municipal Airport, made several recommendations to the Mayor and Council yesterday which he said, should be put into effect, if the sports car races are held at the port again.

Mullenax recommended better toilet facilities, banning of large trucks running over the grass plots and from loading and unloading, and draining of oil from crank cases.

Trucks running over ground soft by rain destroyed about three acres of grass, the manager said, adding that most has been replaced or re-seeded. It took four men five and a half days to clean up the port after the races and 22 truckloads of trash were hauled to the dump, he said.

The airport manager said, however, that there was no major damage and added a word of praise for the races and the good publicity brought to the city.

He estimated that 9,500 cars were parked at the port for the event, and thanked Street Commissioner William H. Buchholz and his men for their cooperation. A tremendous amount of work was done in preparation for the races he added.

In a report on maintenance, Mullenax said the main road has been repaired using 17 tons of blacktop guard rails and barriers have been painted and open drain ditches cleaned.

Tax Collector George E. Davis, in his report for May, cited receipts of $49,047.49 including: General, $13,772.76; general improvement bonds, $1,823.05; 1952 sewer bonds, $2,320.68 and water rents, $31.13.

Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan said there were 632 arrests last month with fines amounting to $935. The Fire Department responded to 34 calls but damage was minor.

Parking meter collections for the week of May 22-29 increased $4.79, according to Inspector Harry Whisner.

City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery said receipts at his office totaled $4,350.80 including $2,300 for pinball licenses and $1,167.15 for bingo tax and recreation admission tax on bingo.

Braddock Road Slated For Surface Treatment

The State Roads Commission plans to start surface treatment of Braddock Road on Wednesday with two and one-half miles being given a coating of stone chips and asphalt.

A short section of approximately a half mile on Welsh Hill in the Frostburg section will also be surface treated.

Gordon Below Crest

Lake Gordon is eight inches below the crest of the spillway, C. L. Brotemarkle, assistant superintendent of Evitts Creek Water Company, reported to the Mayor and Council yesterday. Lake Koon is level with the spillway. Water consumption for the week ending yesterday was 82,390,000 gallons compared to 87,470,000 the same period a year ago.

40-8 Elects Today

Keller, Farris Furnish Bond

A 20-year-old Cumberlander, James Walter Farris, of Springfield Street, was released under $2,000 bond Saturday in Trial Magistrates Court for October grand jury action in the theft of $1,200 from Carl A. Keller, 508 Park Street.

Keller also was freed under the same amount of bond on a morals charge. Both were arrested Friday by city police.

Investigation disclosed the money was taken Thursday from Keller's apartment. Farris was identified as a friend of the victim.

Detectives said a total of $314 in small bills was recovered, along with two government checks for $78.75 and $17. Farris reportedly had spent $510 for a car, taxes and license plate. Another $290 went for gasoline.

The automobile had not been picked up from the dealer, according to Lt. James E. Van, but Farris apparently had planned to leave Friday for Baltimore.

Police reported the car dealer agreed to nullify the sale and refund the money. The balance of the missing cash is expected to be recovered soon.

Keller notified police last Thursday that the money had been removed from a dresser drawer in his bedroom between 7 p. m. Wednesday and 1 p. m. Thursday. Police learned later that it was stolen about 2 a. m. Thursday.

Keller was sentenced May 8, 1954, to 18 months in the House of Correction on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

He was held Saturday for action of the October grand jury after the State's Attorney's office prayed a jury trial. Magistrate J. Milton Dick set bond.

Election Board Names Wilson To New Term

Move To Step Down Stopped

William A. Wilson was renamed president of the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors at the organizational meeting yesterday.

Wilson, who previously said he would step down from the post he has held four years, first nominated Victor M. Hebb for the presidency, but Hebb countered by nominating Wilson.

Matthew J. Mullaney, the Democratic board member, seconded the nomination of Wilson and he was unanimously selected.

Edward P. Kaylor was renamed clerk to the board after he was nominated by Hebb and seconded by Wilson. Kaylor will serve for two years.

The Republican State Central Committee had recommended Reuben L. Spiker for the clerk position.

The board set up a new position, custodian of voting machines, and Spiker was named to that post.

John M. Robb, city, was renamed attorney, and Alvin Gentry, Lonaconing, was named messenger. Charles Hardy, this city, held the latter post previously.

Irvin J. Neat, Lonaconing, was named Republican registrar, and C. William McDermott was renamed Democratic registrar.

Mrs. H. M. Shank, this city, was named substitute GOP registrar. Mrs. Zena J. Davis, this city, was not a candidate for reappointment. John R. Kelly, this city, was named substitute Democratic registrar.

Members of the Election Board were sworn into office for two-year terms by Clerk of Court Joseph E. Boden.

The Hippodrome, opened by P. T. Barnum in 1873 in New York City, was supplanted by the old Madison Square Garden in 1890.

Want to watch the gas pumps go by?

It's wonderful what Variable Pitch Propellers do for getaway AND gas savings!

Buick SPECIAL 4-Door, 6-Passenger Riviera, Model 43

Any airline pilot will tell you that one big reason for the modern plane's greatly increased cruising range aloft is the variable pitch propeller.

To get off the ground, of course, the pilot needs plenty of acceleration, for take-off and climb. So his propellers must "bite" into air at a certain angle for utmost performance.

But once the plane is at cruising altitude, great power acceleration is no longer needed — fuel efficiency is. So the pilot switches the pitch of his propeller blades to high-economy angle — and gets a lot more mileage from the fuel in his tanks.

That's why Buick's new Variable Pitch Dynaflo® is such a sensation everywhere. For the same aviation principle that brings this two-way magic to the modern plane is now found in the propeller-like blades whirling in oil inside the Dynaflo unit.

Just by pressing the gas pedal way down, you switch the pitch and get instantaneous getaway response or safety-surge acceleration.

Just by easing up on the pedal, you change the pitch to high-economy angle — and get new and better gas mileage in all normal driving and cruising.

It's a spectacular and sensible achievement — this new Dynaflo Drive — a brand-new thrill and a brand-new thriftiness.

And with it goes the might of record-high V8 power — and the level luxury of Buick's all-coil-spring ride — and the spacious roominess of Buick's broad interiors — and the host of other advanced features that add to Buick's brimming value.

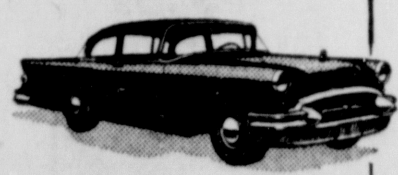

Come in and try what is very definitely the performance thrill of the year — and see for yourself why Buick sales are soaring to all-time best-seller highs.

*Dynaflo Drive is standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

Murder Charge Faces Franklin Man In Shooting

Willie Vandevander Is Held In Brother's Death

West Virginia authorities in Franklin said last night Willie Vandevander, 43-year-old father of 10, will be charged with murder in the fatal shooting of his brother, Adam, Sunday morning.

Vandevander is being held without bond in Pendleton County jail in Franklin pending his arraignment today before Magistrate Dewey H. Moyer.

Sheriff Leo Skidmore said Adam Vandevander, 42, was killed in the home of his brother following an argument when Willie accused Adam of stealing about $12 worth of food from the former's refrigerator.

Adam's death was the third in the past three years in the Vandevander family stemming from family squabbles among the mountain farm clan. He was killed by a bullet from a .330, high-powered deer rifle. Fired at close range, the bullet passed through Adam's body, about three inches above his heart, severing the main artery to the heart. It then plowed through a door, a stove pipe in the next room, an iron skillet and spent itself against the wall of the three-room shack. Police found the flattened missile on the floor next to the wall, the sheriff said.

The shooting took place at Willie's home, north of Cherry Grove, about 21 miles west of Franklin on West Virginia 28, in this South Branch Valley section of West Virginia.

Sheriff Skidmore said Willie admitted the shooting but said he fired in self defense when Adam appeared to be ready to jump him. Willie had been awakened early Sunday morning by a noise in his kitchen.

Investigating, he found his refrigerator had been plundered and a window left open. He told the sheriff he returned to bed, after putting his rifle beside him, and went back to sleep.

Several hours later, he again awoke and found Adam in the house. He accused his brother of stealing from the refrigerator and Adam denied it. Sheriff Skidmore said. The two argued and Willie said he fired when Adam advanced toward the bed as if he were going to jump on him.

About three years ago, Willie and Adam's father—Wein Vandevander—and his brother, Jay, were killed and two other members of the family were wounded in a family squabble.

Jess Vandevander, Wein and Jay's brother and uncle of Willie and Adam, was convicted in that shooting and is currently serving a 1 to 10-year sentence in West Virginia Penitentiary for second degree murder, Sheriff Skidmore said.

Ridgeley Election Is Today

Ridgeley will elect a mayor and five councilmen at balloting today in one of the few community elections in Eastern West Virginia in which interest is being shown.

The approximately 900 eligible voters in Ridgeley will vote today between 7:30 a. m. and 8 p. m. at the City Hall and the Elementary School building. Those elected will serve two-year terms.

Opponents in the mayoral contest are incumbent William D. Biding and Charles H. Fryer, former police commissioner.

Robert L. Zimmerman is the only councilman seeking re-election and he is being opposed by seven other candidates. They are W. Merle Cornelius, Herbert W. Davis, Alston T. Dayton, William C. Knieriem, Sylvester H. Martin, William L. Mickey and Charles F. "Pappy" Mulligan.

Council members not seeking to be returned to office are Ira W. Graham, Paul F. McFarland, Robert Lindsay and Harry F. Kelso. Mrs. Lenora B. Turner, incumbent recorder, is unopposed for the post.

Little interest is being shown in other municipal elections.

In Hedgesville, for instance, no one has filed for any office.

No tickets have been announced for Harpers Ferry and Bolivar.

In Ranson, near Charles Town, however, there are at least two candidates for each office. Mayor Millard C. Trussell is opposed by C. David Hine, present town recorder. Two others are running for recorder and eight seek five council seats.

Six men have filed for the five council seats in Petersburg and the same in Berkeley Springs.

Moorefield's mayor and recorder are unopposed but ten are out for five council places.

Elections also are scheduled in Paw Paw, Romney, Capon Bridge and Keyser.

Old Export

the beer that's
BREWED A LITTLE AT A TIME

Western Maryland's most popular beer

If you like beer, Old Export is bound to be your favorite (if it isn't already!) We admit this is a pretty strong statement. But once you try Old Export you'll see what we mean.

Old Export is made the way real beer should be. First we start with the finest ingredients. We blend them in crystal-clear mountain water. And then we brew a little at a time . . . many times a day . . . for constant flavor control.

After your own opinion . . . the next best judge of beer is the friendly guy who serves you at your favorite club, restaurant, or tavern. Chances are he'll say . . . "Export's own good taste will convince you."

So, if you want a beer that's different—and the difference you want is good taste—then the beer you want is Old Export. Try it!

For a better glass of beer OLD Export . . . everytime

Many Suggestions But No Solution

Sections of the Great Plains and the Southwest, which suffered from severe drought for many months, received dubious benefit from recent rainfall verging on cloudbursts in many areas. Arid days appear to have again set in.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson, in an attempt to find ways in which the federal government might aid, took a motor trip through the drought-stricken states several weeks ago. The secretary has made no recommendations.

Many suggestions were offered Mr. Benson, ranging from doing nothing to sending an army of rain-makers to the affected areas. Some farmers wanted an extension of credit to develop ground water resources, while others felt those who misused their land should be denied federal farm program benefits.

The most bitter complaint was directed at the "suitcase farmer," a derisive term tagged on land speculators from cities who buy up acreage from distressed farmers and hold it for speculative farming operations. Some farmers contended such land is often poorly taken care of and aggravates wind erosion problems.

Another prime cause of drought and dust storm conditions is the plowing up of grass lands. Ironically, the government must accept a large share of responsibility for this plowup because of its wheat encouragement program during World War II.

Government authorities have tried innumerable times to change or control mother nature, with notable lack of success. Whether Secretary Benson will be able to develop a workable plan remains to be disclosed, but he should have gained competent knowledge of the cause and effect of droughts.

In the meantime, in the drought country, farmers scan the skies hopefully for signs of new rains.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

A Street Argument

After one of the political meetings which I attended in England, crowds gathered on the street to argue points. This was a working class district and the British workingmen have memories of such campaigns as George Bernard Shaw, H. G. Wells, Sidney Webb, and other intellectuals and they like big ideas and big words. A British Communist took over, assisted by a young lady who may have been his wife. Their argument fascinated me:

"Who has bases all over the world? Do you see any Russian air bases in England? Do the Russians have bases for atom bombs and hydrogen bombs in England or Portugal or Spain? Of course not! Only the Yanks have bases all over the world. That proves that the Yanks want war and I won't fight for the Yanks. Not me!

"The Russians in 1945 were the most powerful people on earth. Did they take Germany, France, Holland, Belgium? Of course not! They stopped and let every country run itself. What did the Yanks do? They organized NATO. They organized for war. That's what they did.

"In 1945, the Russians could have taken England and they could have taken America. Did they? Not they. They tried for peace. They tried to find a way to peace. Only the Yanks kept them down because Wall Street wants to own the world."

Most of the listeners gave this fellow blow for blow. It was a quiet argument, apparently not to wake the neighbors, but a very heated one. However, so overpowering is the desire for peace that I could feel that this fellow was making some headway, particularly among the women. There can be no question but that these people, who live in a section that had been bombed, fear war more than any American can understand. The Communist said that he had fought in Korea and was a fool for doing the Yanks' job for them.

His parting shot was:
"I have statistics to prove that the amount of aid the Yanks gave the Russians is next to nothing, less than one per cent of what it cost the Russians to free Europe from the Nazi menace."

Of course, these arguments did not count for much in the final results, but it is of some importance to note the line. My inquiries showed that it is this line which is being followed in all circles, a definite anti-American propaganda designed to convince Europeans and Asians that the United States alone is the enemy of peace, that all the world would have peace were it not for American efforts to make war. NATO is painted as an American war machine designed to enslave Western Europe.

We, in this country, do not come across this line of argument and if we did, we could answer it. In Great Britain I found no effective presentation of the American point of view either by official Americans or by the news which is sent from this country. This is not said in criticism of individuals but rather of a point of view that people are more interested in exciting news than in explanatory background. The truth is that they are interested in both and the British workingman has had a long history of listening to talks on economics, history and government.

Some 30 years ago, the American Chamber of Commerce in Shanghai protested to news agencies that the news coming into China and published in the local newspapers misrepresented the United States, giving the impression that we are all gangsters and savages. The same can be said today about the presentation of the United States to Great Britain, with rare and notable exceptions. What comes over to the masses of the British people are juvenile delinquency, misbehavior by Hollywood stars and some political and economic data not too well stated. The "class" newspapers and weeklies, particularly The Economist, do better. We get a fuller presentation of the British point of view in this country.

I have been told that cable tolls have much to do with this. They are not only costly but the export of dollars is very limited and therefore British publications cannot afford long cabled accounts. This is as much an American as a British problem. It is not so much propaganda that is needed as full political coverage such as used to be sent by that great correspondent, Sir Willmott Lewis.

Indonesia Illustrates Phony Cry Of Anti-Colonialism

By David Lawrence

THE HAGUE, Holland—The phony cry of anti-colonialism, to which many persons in the free world have so blindly succumbed, has much to answer for in the terrible plight of the people of the so-called Republic of Indonesia.

Since the East Indies were governed peaceably by the Netherlands government for a long time, the facts available here show a nation torn by revolution, menaced by the steady exodus of foreign capital and ruled by a Communist-inspired dictator. Indonesia has 80,000,000 people, but pro-Communist forces rule the government and prevent elections from being held.

Holland was pressured by the governments of Britain and the United States to give up its colonies and grant complete independence to Indonesia. But the new sponsors today have abandoned the islands. A dictatorship government there continues to defy and spurn a report from the United Nations Commission made in October 1950 which sought to carry through its mission of peaceful reconstruction.

U. N. Indifferent

The Dutch government is saddened, and so are the people of this country of all parties, that the free world has allowed such a tragedy to happen. Worst of all is the continued indifference of the United Nations to the plight of the Republic of the South Moluccas, which was granted autonomy under the historic agreement of 1949 as a member of the new federation comprising the United States of Indonesia. But the Soekarno dictatorship has since torn the federal union's constitution to pieces and seized much of the territory of the Moluccas. The people there are still fighting for liberty and independence under frightful conditions of blockade and economic isolation which are abetted by foreign ship-owners in league with the Indonesian dictatorship.

Enlightened colonialism—for the Dutch have undoubtedly been the best of modern administrators and the staunch builders of economic enterprises—has been superseded by Communist colonialism.

Yesterday I wrote about the psychiatrist's evaluation of the love factor in the adolescent particularly. Today's article is concerned with more mature love.

When a young man finishes school and becomes self-supporting, he is likely to get married. The romantic love of the couple may grow greater with the years but does not last in the first form, according to Dr. Philip Solomon. He says the change takes place

Today there is no such thing as human liberty in a democratic sense in Indonesia. Some of the finest Dutch business men—70 of them—have been thrown into jail on trumped-up charges of conspiracy and have been denied the right to choose their own counsel to defend themselves. None of the so-called "wicked" colonial governments of Europe would have dared to do anything of this sort.

Soviet Influence Known
The record of Soviet influence in the setting up of the Indonesian republic is known to everybody in official circles familiar with what happened when the Dutch were forced out by diplomatic coercion. In a pamphlet which, after being printed in 1949, was suppressed here in order not to create further complications in the relations with the Indonesians, the Netherlands government says:

"The course of all negotiations with the Republic of Indonesia for a final political over-all agreement, from the very first phase up to the recent breakdown, has been deeply affected by Communist influence and undercover action in the republic and its government."
More than a billion dollars is still invested in Indonesia by the Dutch. The government here is doing all it can to protect those investments and hence nobody advocates a return of Dutch rule. There is deep concern over the prospects. For, although the United Nations helped to create the Indonesian Republic, it appears to have abandoned the people to a dictatorship. Despite its own intervention just after World War II, the United Nations organization does nothing now to safeguard the rights of the millions of people who, against their will, were stripped of the protection of the Netherlands government.

Obviously Indonesia cannot protect itself against military attack. It cannot ask the Netherlands government to fight future invaders. This is the plight of those smaller countries which want all the advantages of independence without any of the expensive obligations of defense that logically must be assumed by any independent sovereign state.

Rich In Natural Resources
Most people in the world are very little aware of the present condition of the islands which used to appear on the map as the Dutch East Indies, and where valuable oil and rubber are to be found. After the United States and Soviet Russia, this is the richest area in the world in natural resources.

Most people, moreover, do not know why Soviet Russia and Communist China look with such covetous eyes on these islands. But the truth is that, by the process of infiltration and internal conspiracy which is the familiar pattern of the "cold war," the Communists are eager to secure the complete conquest of the Indonesians.

The only light on the horizon is the fact that America, Britain, France and many other powers at last have awakened to the menace of the Indonesian dictator in his attempt to grab Dutch New Guinea and set up a colonialism of his own. This island territory, which is 1,500 miles from the Indonesian capital, is not more distant to Indonesia than Guam does to Japan. Dutch New Guinea is a strategic gateway to Australia. If Indonesia comes under the yoke of communism along with Indonesia, the peoples of the former colonial areas in Southeast Asia will have lost any chance for real freedom and real independence.

Communist colonialism, with its disorders and tyranny in the Netherlands East Indies, has supplanted Dutch colonialism, with its liberty and economic stability. The United Nations has a great deal on its conscience to answer for. It did help to sell the Indonesian people into bondage.

AT&T Takes Place Of General Motors With Inside Track To Administration

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — It looks as if American Telephone and Telegraph is succeeding General Motors as the company with the most inside lines into the Eisenhower administration. The giant, efficient telephone company not only has three friendly commissioners on the Federal Communications Commission, which regulates telephones; it also has its former executives planted throughout the government.

This column has already told how General Motors increased its defense contracts by $1,700,000 under Secretary of Defense Wilson, ex-General Motors boss, while other auto companies lost business. Here now is AT&T's amazing record of accomplishments:

1. Civil Aeronautics officials have talked to AT&T executives about turning the government's $5,000,000 landline communications system over to "private industry." Under the secret plan, the government would rent the same equipment back again, paying the private companies a handsome profit.

2. The Defense Department is quietly selling the telephone systems at military posts to private companies. Already, 25 telephone systems have been auctioned off, mostly to AT&T affiliates, to operate at a profit. Another 175 are expected to be sold.

3. The Interior Department is negotiating to deliver the lucrative telephone systems in our national parks to private companies. Already the 600 phones in Yosemite have been sold to Pacific Telephone and Telegraph, an AT&T affiliate.

4. The Pentagon has brought backstage pressure on the Justice Department to dismiss its antitrust action against AT&T. Under the Democrats, the Justice Department tried to divorce AT&T and Western Electric, which manufactures telephone equipment. Now the Pentagon is pressuring the Anti-Trust Division to drop the case.

The Defense Department wants to kill the anti-trust suit on the grounds that the ties between AT&T and Western Electric are necessary for defense, particularly in the research and development field. It may be only coincidence that Assistant Secretary of Defense Donald Quarles, in charge of research and development, was formerly vice president of AT&T's Bell Laboratories.

The deputy director of research and development for the National Security Agency, A. B. Clark, is also a former Bell Laboratories vice president. R. K. Honaman, a deputy assistant secretary of defense, is another Bell Laboratories executive on leave of absence.

Here are other ex-AT&T executives who are now scattered around the government: Deputy Defense Mobilizer Victor Cooley, formerly president of Southwestern Bell; Assistant Budget Director Donald Belcher, formerly AT&T treasurer; Census Director Robert Burgess, an ex-Western Electric executive; Assistant Administrator Stanley Damkroger of the Commerce Department's Business and Defense Services, on leave of absence from Pacific Telephone and Telegraph; and Harold M. Botkin, assistant director of telecommunications for the Office of Defense Mobilization, on leave from Longline Co., another AT&T affiliate.

This is only a partial rollcall of the ex-AT&T employees who have suddenly gone to work for the government.

Inside Ford Strike

Untold story behind the Ford strike negotiations is how auto workers' boss Walter Reuther argued against himself to spite a rival.

Reuther was itching to strike on schedule last week. He ran into opposition from the union's executive board, however, which suggested postponing the walkout to negotiate Ford's latest offer.

The trigger-tongued auto chief reluctantly agreed to talk it over with his negotiating committee, but not to stand in the way if the committee still wanted to go ahead. Next morning, he put up some lukewarm arguments for a strike postponement. They were answered vigorously by Carl Stellato, president of the Ford local, who has fought Reuther inside the union. Only last year, he ran for vice president of the United Auto Workers against Reuther's candidate.

When the issue came up for a vote, it was obvious that Stellato's fiery answers had won over Reuther's tongue-in-cheek arguments. Though Reuther had privately favored an immediate strike all along, he didn't like the idea of losing an argument to Stellato. So the auto workers' boss reopened the debate and fought furiously for the postponement he didn't really want.

Salk Sabotage

While mothers anxiously await a government plan to end the Salk vaccine uncertainty, GOP senators are quietly sabotaging Democratic efforts to regulate the anti-polio vaccine.

Latest episode has been a GOP boycott of the Senate polio hearings. Alabama's bustling Senator Lister Hill, chairman of the Labor and Public Welfare Committee, has tried four times to get enough members together to hold a meeting.

He wants to rush action on President Eisenhower's request for $28,000,000 to make Salk vaccine available to needy families, also a Democratic proposal to give the President stand-by powers to control the distribution.

Though they are holding up the President's recommendation, Republican senators have been ducking out on the hearings. Those who were available, yet boycotted various meetings, are Senators Barry Goldwater of Arizona, George Bender of Ohio, Gordon Allott of Colorado and William Purtell of Connecticut. Both Allott and Purtell put in brief appearances, but didn't stay long enough to make a quorum.

In contrast, all Democrats in town — Senators Matt Neely of West Virginia, Herbert Lehman of New York, Pat McNamara of Michigan, Paul Douglas of Illinois, and Hill — have showed up. They couldn't pass legislation, however, without the Republicans.

Meanwhile, legislation to relieve the Salk vaccine bottleneck is stymied.

In Fairness To A Lady

By Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON. In all fairness, it is time somebody spoke up for Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, beleaguered secretary of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

It is fashionable nowadays to beat Mrs. Hobby over the head, editorially and oratorically, as solely responsible for the confusion and delays in the polio vaccine program. Adlai Stevenson, who knows a good issue when he sees one, took up the cudgels the other day when he said he "didn't think it required any special clairvoyance to estimate the demand for vaccine, the supply, and the hazards of production."

Yet the truth is that the blame really rests far less on Mrs. Hobby than on a mysterious polio virus, which for reasons yet unexplained refused to die when it should have died. Stevenson to the contrary, it would have required clairvoyance of a remarkably high order to foresee this particular hazard.

Criticized By Hindsight
The facts are simple enough. On April 12, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis announced the success of the field tests of the Salk vaccine. On the same day, Mrs. Hobby licensed six manufacturers to distribute the vaccine, and the polio foundation went ahead with its free vaccination program for all first and second grade children.

Mrs. Hobby has been much criticized by hindsight for "not having a distribution plan ready." In fact, a distribution plan was ready — the polio foundation's program for vaccinating first and second graders, which is still incomplete, and which will use all available vaccine until it is complete. It never occurred to anyone in Mrs. Hobby's department to move in and take over the foundation's program, simply because there was no visible need whatsoever for doing so.

What, then, really went wrong? What went wrong was that virus that refused to die. On April 27, the surgeon general, Dr. Scheele, received reports of six cases of polio among children who had received vaccine from the Cutter Laboratories in California. The polio had apparently resulted from live virus in the vaccine. Dr. Scheele immediately asked Cutter to withdraw all its vaccine.

Tricky Business
The scientists of the Public Health Service then descended on the Cutter Laboratories to try to determine why the virus had not died. And even now, they do not really know for certain.

Any such admission it was thought, would scare the living daylight out of the American people, and thus destroy the value of the life-saving Salk vaccine. Yet in fairness it is hard to understand how Mrs. Hobby, clairvoyant or not, could have foreseen what some of the best scientists in the country did not foresee — and cannot wholly understand, even now that it has happened.

As Adult Love Deepens, Ability To Share Increases

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Yesterday I wrote about the psychiatrist's evaluation of the love factor in the adolescent particularly. Today's article is concerned with more mature love.

When a young man finishes school and becomes self-supporting, he is likely to get married. The romantic love of the couple may grow greater with the years but does not last in the first form, according to Dr. Philip Solomon. He says the change takes place

"when the stubbornest overvaluation dissolves under the slow drip of reality; the strongest infatuation erodes when exposed to the heat and cold, the tears and frost of marriage weather."

But a new kind of love evolves from the marital relationship, in which sharing plays a major role. Soon it is obvious that the man and his wife have become partners in a sociological enterprise. Their goals and ambitions become one as well as their pleasures, sufferings, and work. Each is cognizant of his duties and responsibilities to the other and to the children.

Dr. Solomon asserts that a wife must be prepared to be mother, daughter, or mistress to her husband. The husband in turn must be able to assume the part of father, son, and lover to her. In the best marriages the lover-mistress role predominates, along with companionship and friendship. When the husband feels like a son, the wife immediately behaves like his mother and when she adopts the role of daughter, he cooperates by acting like a father.

Considerable patience, tolerance, and flexibility are required to achieve this harmony. The assumption of these roles is unconscious yet it is precisely what the husband means when he says, "My wife knows exactly what to do whenever I am bothered by this or that."

As the years pass, both usually learn how to make marriage a success. They are thankful for whatever kind of love remains. In this respect, their romance lives on in that life becomes fuller and more rewarding. As adult love grows deeper, the ability to share broadens. This may involve similar religious convictions or disbeliefs.

CLEAN-UP DAY AT FAIRGO—Women are shown giving the soap and water treatment to the grandstand seats at Fairgo where preparations are well under way for the 10-day racing meet of the Cumberland Fair Association which opens Wednesday, June 15. Harry J. Barton, general manager of the Cumberland Fair Association, is a stickler for cleanliness and realizes that fans who view the races from the grandstand don't like the idea of sitting on dust covered benches. A number of improvements have been made at the local half mile racing plant for the earliest meet ever staged by the Cumberland Fair Association.

Jack Scarbath Quits Football

'Skins Back To Enter Construction Business

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP)—Jack Scarbath, Maryland's 1952 All-America quarterback, notified the Washington Redskins today he is quitting professional football to enter the construction business in Baltimore, his home town.

The announcement of his retirement came as three other Redskins quarterbacks assembled here for conferences with Head Coach Joe Kuharich and his staff on the team's strategy plans for 1955.

Attending the sessions starting tomorrow will be Eddie Lebaron, a pro veteran and former College of Pacific star; Al Dorow, who won grid honors at Michigan State, and Ralph Guglielmi, who quarterbacked Notre Dame's great team last year and was the Redskins' No. 1 choice in the draft of college players.

Scarbath, who never quite lived up in pro football to the promise he gave as a collegian, hinted at retirement last week in conferences with Kuharich. The 6 foot 2, 210-pound former Maryland star will be 25 in August. He is married and has one son.

Scarbath won fame as a split-T quarterback at Maryland where he once guided the Terrapins through 22 straight victories. He was a star of Maryland's 28-13 triumph over Tennessee in the 1952 Sugar Bowl game and was named the outstanding player in the 1952 North-South game in Miami. He was the Redskins' No. 1 draft choice in 1953.

Orioles Swap Les Moss For Harry Dorish

Baltimore May Sell Or Trade Kretlow

CHICAGO, June 6 (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles, seeking help for a floundering mound corps, today traded second-string catcher Les Moss to the Chicago White Sox for pitcher Harry Dorish.

The deal was pure barter—no cash involved.

At the same time, Oriole Manager Paul Richards sent pitcher Lou Kretlow back to Baltimore, apparently to be sold or traded. Richards said only that he was undecided what to do with the big right-hander.

Kretlow has no victories, four losses, has given up 50 hits and 39 runs in 38 and one-third innings, and has not completed a game. Last season he had a 6-11 record and an earned run average of 4.37.

In the Moss-Dorish trade, Dorish, who has a 3-39 average, but hasn't done much catching since rookie Hal Smith showed himself adept at major league backstopping early in the season.

Lacking a regular second-string catcher, Richards said he will use rookie first baseman Guy Triandos to alternate with Smith.

Dorish has a record of two victories and no defeats with Chicago this season. He has allowed only three earned runs in 17 innings while yielding 16 hits.

Dorish will be 33 next month. The Orioles open a four-game series in Chicago tomorrow.

Mike Kelley, 79, Taken By Death

Managed St. Paul Club Many Years

MINNEAPOLIS, June 6 (AP)—Michael Joseph (Mike) Kelley, 79, who devoted 52 years of his life to organized baseball and rose from player manager and owner, died today.

He had been taken to a hospital May 26 with a possible leg fracture suffered after a fall and recently underwent surgery.

Kelley's baseball career began in 1895 when he played first base for the Augusta, Maine, club of the New England League. He later played first base for Louisville and Pittsburgh of the National League.

In 1902 he became first baseman and manager for the St. Paul club in the newly organized American Assn., remaining there with two short breaks until 1924 when he bought into the Minneapolis club.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, June 6 (INS)—Former Democratic National Committee woman Katie Goetz Savage is back from her trip to Europe and very active. She is the head of the Aramaic Bible Foundation and was instrumental in presenting the first Aramaic bible to the Congressional Library. She made the presentation to President Eisenhower, and he in turn gave it to the library. It cost a million and a half dollars, and now Katie is out to collect some more money to finish paying for it. She also has an idea of sending an industrial ship to all the countries behind the Iron Curtain so they can see the American way of life. According to her attorney, Margaret Chandler, the President thought it might be better to exploit our atomic improvements as a move toward peace.

Katie has been taken into the Catholic Church, and one of her sponsors was Grace Kelly—not the actress but the former secretary to President Roosevelt.

George Gobel must be feeling like a sultan now that Mitzi Gaynor is set to be his wife in "Lady Eve."

Mitzi coming up George's third "wife" counts Jeff Donnell, who is Mrs. Gobel on TV.—and Alice Gobel who is Mrs. G in real life.

Over a million dollars has been raised for the Boston children's cancer research by Joan Crawford, Spencer Tracy, and now Jimmy Cagney. In telling me about this, Ralph Wheelwright, who is a trustee, said that Jimmy put his own money into making a film which will be shown on TV and in theaters.

Jimmy is photographed with a little boy who has leukemia. The child throws a ball to Jimmy and says, "When I grow up I'm going to be a baseball player." It tears your heart out.

Jimmy is now driving across country with his son, Jimmy, Jr., to Martha's Vineyard where he'll stay until he returns to MGM for Ralph's story, "All Our Yesterdays."

I received a letter telling me that Lili Palmer and Rex Harrison are reported definitely separated. Lili is being seen everywhere with Carlos Thompson at Bilboa, a seaport in Spain where both are co-starring in "Thunderstorm"—an appropriate title—for Mike Frankovich.

Since Mike has "Joe MacBeth" going in London, he has put his wife in "Thunderstorm" as co-producer, and I am told she is doing a great job. Sexy-Rexy has been reported seeing Kay Kendall. London papers printed this news.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Elsie Janis, stage favorite of years ago, is recuperating from surgery at Cedars of Lebanon.

Liberace had to say "no" to the Hollywood Bowl, because he'll be busy on his Warners picture, "Sincerely Yours" and he's been warned by his doctor not to overdo.

Jeannette MacDonald and Gene Raymond celebrate their 18th wedding anniversary June 16. How well I remember carrying a typewriter under my arm to their wedding. So I could get my story first. That's all today. See you tomorrow.

ON THE LINE

By BOB CONSIDINE

TULSA, June 6—(INS)—Sat next to a man with the improbable name of Smith on an American Airlines flight out this way for the Oklahoma Press Association convention. We were tooling along at 350 mph or so but this man Smith was mildly impatient. He apparently has something to do with airline travel and, like most of those fellows, he was thinking of the future of his business.

The next real revolution in air transportation (he said) will be the widespread adoption of the turbine engine. The principle is ancient: We've had steam turbines in operation, generating power, for generations. The big lesson that has been learned concerns weight. We no longer think of turbines in tons. We think of them in pounds.

The aviation turbine power plant is a lot of power in a small package. It has four great merits: 1—It has what is called a "small frontal area," which means that the front of the engine and its cooling, which has to be pushed through the air with the balance of the plane, is much smaller than any other type of power plant. Being smaller, it takes less power to push it through the air faster.

2—It also weighs considerably less, per pound per horsepower, than any conventional reciprocating engine. A reciprocating engine of 4,000 horsepower would weigh around 4,000 pounds. It is not unreasonable to expect that a turbine engine of comparable horsepower will weigh one ton less. On a four-engine airplane you would save four tons in engine weight alone. You could either add that saving to the payload capacity of the airplane, or you could add it to the fuel supply, to give the ship more range. Or you could make the airplane smaller and more efficient.

3—The reciprocating engine on this DC-7 and on most planes today uses an expensive fuel which is called high octane. It costs a lot more money than the high-test gas you buy for your car. And each octane you add adds to the cost. But the turbine engine isn't choosy. It will burn hybrid juice called J P fuel. This will be a great contribution to economy. After all, fuel cost represents a high proportion of the total cost of operating an airplane.

4—The turbine is a simple engine, compared with the complex reciprocating engine with its thousands of moving parts. In the long run, the turbine engine will be more dependable and its cost of maintenance and overhaul will be less.

You see (this man Smith continued, with the authority of a man who might be president or chairman of the board of one of the big lines) operating airlines is a business. You're talking about important business factors when you talk about (a) more power for the same size, (b) less resistance and more speed, (c) fuel which costs less, (d) simpler and more dependable engines easier to maintain. You don't need to be an engineer to understand that.

It won't be long he concluded before speeds of 450 to 550 miles an hour for the transport will be here rather than just around the corner. In the 1960-1965 period it will be conventional to fly nonstop between the coasts in a bit under five hours.

(At which time the restless Mr. Smith will be cooking up some way of doing it in three, safely, soundly and with an engine which for all we know, may function superbly on surplus Navy hamburgers.) (Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.)

IN THE DAYS OF DAVY CROCKETT

Jim Bowie was a mighty nice boy but he wasn't afraid of anybody or anything ever. Even when he was no bigger than a jack-rabbit, bullies learned to let him alone. He didn't start fights but he sure could finish them! In our time Jim'd been a champion.

In Jim's and Davy Crockett's day there wasn't much book learning to be had. Their real school was the great wild woods, and there Jim and Davy were top of the class, you can bet. When still too young to pack a gun for a hunting game, Jim learned to lasso deer!

When Jim wasn't hunting with his trusty lasso or fishing in the bayou streams, he worked hard at his chores around his folks' farm, like a dutiful child should, helping his parents. He loved to ride, too, and many a wild pony found out Jim was his boss.

When Jim got a might older, he went deeper and deeper into the great bayou country looking for exciting things to do. They say he even roped alligators and learned to ride them. I rightly don't know if that's really so but I wouldn't put it past him!

NEXT—Jim Bowie traps bears, meets a buccaneer.

Help nature along in caring for your skin by adopting good habits of eating and cleansing.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Let's face it...few women are blessed by nature with a peaches-and-cream complexion that needs no attention. Those that are keep it that way by constant care. Maybe that is why American women spend around $50,000,000 annually on various types of beauty preparations.

The girl or woman with a mediocre complexion has found that faithful and correct care pays off big dividends. If she has blackheads or blemishes, there are many fine products that will aid her. Some girls find it wise one day a week to wash their faces with a grainy cleanser. This can be bought, or, you can make your own by mixing equal parts of uncooked cornmeal and mild soap beads. After rinsing, pat an astringent on an oily skin (if this is the case, take treatment twice weekly), or smooth a little oil into a normal or dry skin.

In the warmer months this mixture or a medicated masque helps to wash away the excess oil and grime that so many blackheads, pimples or acne, as well as whiteheads thrive on. Often blackheads and enlarged pores are traceable to improper diet and general health habits. Get eight hours sleep each night and take walks and all the outdoor exercise you have time for. Chose a "skin diet." (Send for my booklet, "Your Beauty Diet." Address me, c/o this newspaper, enclosing 10c in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope.) Eliminate fats and fried foods from your diet. That means chocolates, gravy, and pastry. Stick to lots of lean meats, vegetables, and fruits. Nibble on raw carrots, celery, and leafy vegetables instead of candy (this is a Powers Model trick.) Don't forget the health drink, too... plenty of milk.

West's opening lead doesn't matter — assume that he chooses his newly-acquired club king. You win with the ace and draw the necessary three rounds of trumps. Cash the diamond ace and the heart ace, and then simply exit with that club four which West traded to you.

Now give him still another club trick — his third — discarding dummy's last heart and your own last diamond. But that is the last trick for the defense, because now you have a perfect cross-ruff.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Slavko Nicholas Krnjic, who passed away 14 years ago, June 7, 1941. You are not forgotten, loved one. Nor will you ever be. As long as life and memory last we will remember thee. We miss you, but your heart is here. As time goes by, we miss you more. Your loving smile, your gentle face. No one can fill your vacant place. Sadly missed by his Father, Mother, Brother & Sister.

Lonaconing Tax Rate Boosted By New Council

Robert Thomas Is Named Town Clerk

Several changes were noted in Lonaconing last night as the newly-elected Mayor and Council took office and formally organized.

Taxes were increased for the first time since 1939, council was organized under a commission system rather than a committee plan, and the town has a new police officer and new town clerk.

Mayor Virgil Alexander, who swore in his new council of four men, including two newcomers and two holdovers, said taxes were increased by the Mayor and Council from 75 cents on a hundred dollars of assessable property to 85 cents per hundred.

Since 1939, when taxes were last raised in the town, Alexander noted, the cost of operating the municipal government has increased over 60 percent. The only reason taxes had not been increased before, he said, was because the town has derived, under the Sherborn plan and other state fund programs, state and county revenue which has augmented the local budget.

The ten-cent tax increase will net the mayor and council about $1,000 more per year, most of which is needed to provide more adequate police protection in the community.

In organizing his council, Mayor Alexander appointed Wilmot Garlitz, president of the council and commissioner of lights and water. Garlitz is a holdover councilman. He appointed William H. Berry, another former council member, as commissioner of streets and roads.

Robert "Lefty" Grove, a newcomer to municipal politics, was appointed commissioner of police. John G. Thomas, also a new member of council, was named finance commissioner.

Council appointed Robert Thomas town clerk, succeeding Mrs. Sallie Schramm who held the post for 10 years. In making this appointment, Mayor Alexander announced that the town clerk's office will be moved back to the City Hall immediately. Office hours will be from 7 to 9 p. m. Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. In other months, office hours will be 7 to 9 p. m. on Tuesdays and Saturdays. Thomas is regularly employed as court stenographer in Allegany County Circuit Court, with offices in the court house.

Joseph McGregor was named a police officer to succeed George McCormick. Quail Wilson was re-appointed a peace officer.

Mayor Alexander announced that both of these police appointments are temporary only, since a Civil Service plan for the town is to be worked out in a few weeks. The Council plans, as soon as the town attorney works out the details, the mayor said, to name a Civil Service Board of three citizens. After that examinations will be held for the police department and permanent appointments will be made from a properly certified eligible list.

The council reappointed Henry Connor, town treasurer; Marshall Fazenbaker, street supervisor, and James Getty, town attorney.

Plan For Condemning Property Is Dropped

The Mayor and Council yesterday rescinded a recent order authorizing the payment of $37,180 to the federal government for condemnation proceedings to acquire the Wilkinson property on Riverside Place.

The order pointed out that the property, needed in connection with the Cumberland-Ridgely flood protection project, is being acquired without resorting to condemnation proceedings.

The city yesterday also authorized payment to Agnes and Fred Hersberger, Bridget M. Rhodes, Eleanor P. Kean and William P. C. Perry for land needed for the flood control job.

Mt. Savage School Principal Launches Clean-Up Bon Fire

Each year, about this time, as schools come to a close, teachers, principals and custodians are troubled with a practice that in some areas is almost a plague.

It doesn't happen at all schools, and some are said to be more noted for the practice than others.

However, the children, bubbling over with the prospects of a long vacation, visits to the "ole swimming hole and the like, let forth a burst of energy that creates the problem.

Now it cannot be alleged that the youngsters are actually destructive. They are just a little careless. They tear up paper, note books and all kinds of trash that is of no value, and throw it about schools, lawns, playgrounds and streets. Those who ride school buses seem to get some special kind of a kick from throwing paper, sometimes torn up almost as

Prepare Cancer Dressings

Members of the Allegany County Lay Health Council are preparing supplies of cancer dressings for use in this county. Busy at the task are Mrs. Marion May, 519 Valley Street, (left), Mrs. Frank Taylor, LaVale, and Mrs. Mary Margaret Smith, LaVale, president of the county council. This is only one of the many volunteer services given by the women who belong to 10 Lay Health Groups.

City Begins To Make Use Of Home Rule

Seeks Authority To Finance Projects

An ordinance and resolution to amend the city charter through provisions granted under constitutional home rule was approved by the Mayor and Council yesterday.

The ordinance will delete sections in the 1950 code regarding amending the city charter under the old statutory home rule set up. It becomes effective on the fifth day after passage (July 27) unless a petition containing names of 40 per cent of those voting in the last municipal election is submitted asking it go to a referendum.

Adopts New Method
In effect, City Attorney Thomas B. Finan explained, the action adopts a new method for amending the city charter as provided by the constitutional amendment approved by the voters last November and the implementing machinery set up by the legislature during its last session.

Under the old statute, the change could be made only by referendum. Council's move yesterday came as the city looked to the near future when it will have to issue substantial bonds for the new Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company water line and work at the Lake Gordon water plant. Before the constitutional amendment was approved, these issues were handled by the legislature. Now they are responsibility of municipalities.

It will be at least 100 days before an ordinance on the water line could be effective, for if the charter change ordinance is effective as of July 27, another resolution or ordinance would be introduced to finance the water projects and 50 days must elapse before it could become effective.

Mayor Roy W. Eves said time is running short on the Pittsburgh Plate water line project and it is important to have that item passed.

Long Makes Statement
Finance Commissioner John J. Long said he thought the transition good since it "places more responsibility on the council and future councils."

Long continued that as finance commissioner he is interested in the city's credit rating and that the charter amendment is being made primarily to set up plans for the PPG water line.

This is the last month of the fiscal year, Long said, adding that with the Water Department overdrawn in the neighborhood of $80,000, I want to know from Mr. Nuzum (city engineer) where that line is going, what size it will be, the necessity for the line and who is going to tie it into it besides the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company.

Long said that as long as the city has these big programs such as sewage treatment he would like to have Mr. Regester (Baltimore consulting engineer Robert T. Regester) put in a progress report which he could see each time Regester presents a bill for supervision and inspections of the project.

Mayor Eves replied to Long's statement that plans on the project are "in the drawing room and available to anybody." Long said he would look at the plans after the meeting.

Lay Workers Are Vital Part Of County Health Program

By C. W. BLACKBURN
News Staff Writer

Preparing dressings for cancer patients is one of the many important projects of the Allegany County Lay Health Council.

Since last May, members of the council have been assembling the dressings from materials supplied by the Maryland Cancer Society.

The dressings are prepared and stored at the Health Department office here and are available free to those who need them.

Mrs. Mary Margaret Smith, LaVale, council president, said a supply of 103 dozen dressings are prepared as needed, usually at three to five week intervals.

The Lay Health workers recall that the cancer dressing project was a rugged one until a few months ago.

At first, the eight by eight dressings and gauze "fluffs" were cut out by hand and inevitably resulted in blistered fingers.

No Time To Heal
And the trouble was, Mrs. Smith said, that the blisters were hardly healed before it was time to make another supply.

Now the ladies breeze through the preparation of a month's supply in several hours by using a large paper cutter secured by Dr. Winter R. Frantz, county health officer.

The Lay Health Council is composed of Lay Health Groups in Cumberland, LaVale, Cresaptown, Frostburg, Longconing, Westernport, McCoole, Bowman's Addition, Corriganville and Plintstone.

Membership of the units averages about two dozen women who are interested in public health activities.

The movement began in Allegany County in 1947 when Miss Margaret Morrissey, this city, public health nurse, organized a lay health group in Cresaptown.

Movement Spreads
Within a few years, the movement spread to all parts of the county, resulting in the organization of the county council, which is affiliated with the National Nursing League.

The purpose of the council is to promote better health through aid to public health nurses and to promote health education.

One of the major contributions of the Lay Health workers is to provide from two to four workers at each of the 38 clinics scheduled each month by the Allegany County Health Department.

The volunteer health workers also go into the schools to help public health nurses whenever needed, and assist at all school dental clinics.

They also spend many hours each year helping to prepare envelope appeals used in the Christmas Seal and Easter Seal campaigns.

Aid X-ray Survey
The Lay Health workers also volunteer each year to help conduct the annual mass chest X-ray survey.

Before the Civitan Club took over the project, the Lay Health groups raised funds to finance needed tonsil operations, and for glasses needed by those who are not eligible for funds from the Lions Clubs Sight Conservation Program funds.

A frequent holiday project is the preparation of Sunshine baskets to be sent to patients in tuberculosis hospitals.

A number of the Lay Health Groups also take the responsibility of maintaining and furnishing health centers in their communities.

Other officers of the county council are Mrs. Helen Wendt, Cresaptown, vice president; Mrs. Olive Tennant, Frostburg, secretary, and Mrs. F. Patrick Allender, Cumberland, treasurer.

Frostburg Seeks Federal Funds For Street Job

$48,600 Available For County Use

Some $48,600 in Federal aid funds is now available for Allegany County and the Mayor and City Council of Frostburg are desirous of getting about $37,000 of that total for use in improvements to Bowers Street between Park Avenue and Main Street there.

A letter from the Frostburg officials was received last Friday by the Board of County Commissioners. The Frostburg representatives say that Bowers Street traffic is being increased by the closing of Park Avenue where two new dormitories for Frostburg State Teachers College are being constructed.

As a result of the correspondence from Frostburg, the county commissioners decided to write Austin F. Shure, assistant to the chief engineer of the State Roads Commission, for amplification of a letter he sent them May 25.

Shure informed the county commissioners that this county has some $48,600 in Federal aid funds and by October 1, 1955, another $78,000 will be available as 1957 Federal aid funds.

The commissioners recalled in their letter to Shure that they met with the SRC in April 1954 to figure a plan for financing the construction of the Mt. Savage School Road and the road and bridge to the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company site at North Branch.

Total cost of those two projects, according to the letter, is $467,350.28. It has come from three sources. Federal aid amounted to $60,999.62 last year and $65,163.07 this year. The SRC is providing another $150,000 in supplemental Federal aid funds allocated to Allegany County from appropriations not requested by other Maryland counties. To round out the cost Allegany County provided $81,481.99 last year and $84,711.99 this year.

The county commissioners asked Shure to let them know whether any of the $48,600 balance now available is earmarked for either Mt. Savage or North Branch. They want an answer from him on that question before answering Frostburg's request.

Bloodmobile Collects 156 Pints In City

Unit Will Visit Frostburg Today

Cumberlanders again rallied to the support of its blood bank when 156 pints were donated yesterday at the regular visit of the mobile unit. The bloodmobile will be in Frostburg today.

There were 251 donors scheduled for appearance here yesterday, as the unit opened for operations at noon in the Eagles' home, North Mechanic Street. Of this number, 130 kept their appointments.

In addition there were 42 volunteer walk-ins. Sixteen persons were rejected due to colds or other disability. Twenty-one persons donated blood for the first time, leaving the bulk of the collection to previous donors.

Dr. Leland C. Ransom was the physician on duty at the blood bank yesterday.

One new member of the Two Gallon Club was registered when Mrs. Lucretia Ward of Ridgeley gave her 16th pint of blood.

There were 11 new members of the Gallon Club, each donating their eighth pint. These include, Dr. William R. Allen, 15 Prospect Square; Mervin Keith Friend, Cresaptown; Robert F. Fryer, 909 Lafayette Avenue; Douglas A. Goldaday, Bowling Green; O. H. Lashley, Jr., 323 Holland Street; Mrs. Elizabeth McKenzie, Cresaptown; James Robinson, 316 Piedmont Avenue; George R. Shaffer, Mt. Savage; Stanley L. Sines, LaVale; Woodrow W. Thomas, RFD No. 1, and Patrick A. Tierney, 11 North Allegany Street.

Rec Officials Present Plan To Council

Mayor Says City Lots In Deplorable State

Recommendations for the use of a $150,000 bond issue and proposals for next year's budget were presented to the Mayor and Council yesterday by the City Recreation Board.

The subject was discussed in a 90-minute meeting of the board and council following yesterday morning's council meeting.

A spokesman said the Recreation Board presented a report on what it thinks should be done for improving the recreation set-up in Cumberland, and made certain recommendations on the disposition of the funds available from the bond issue authorized in 1947.

The board had previously recommended that about $33,000 of the sum be spent for general improvements on city owned playgrounds and yesterday made general recommendations on acquiring adequate space for recreation.

This includes both enlargement of existing recreation areas and the acquisition of additional playgrounds and recreation areas to meet the needs of major sections of the city.

Mayor Lists "First's"
The board called for continued cooperation between Cumberland and the Board of Education toward future school improvement, so the schools may serve as both education and recreation centers.

Mayor Roy W. Eves insisted the money be spent first for improvements on city owned playgrounds which, he reported, are in a "deplorable condition."

He was also critical of the delay in making improvements, saying it is seven years since the money was authorized.

In general, the Recreation Board, represented by Chief Judge George Henderson, Albert S. Pave, Mrs. Florence Yankelevitz and James Weber presented the program resulting from a National Recreation Association report on Cumberland's needs.

Present Proposal
This calls for a 30-acre playground in one section of the city, a 10 acre playground to be located in another section, that playgrounds be enlarged to from three and one-half to five acres and that the city cooperate with the Board of Education in planning school buildings so each may be a recreation as well as an education center.

The board also urged that existing buildings be used more extensively as recreation centers, under the direction of the recreation department.

The board also presented a proposal to increase the department's budget to $66,460 next year.

This includes the addition of $26,460 to the present budget, with $6,000 for community centers, $7,260 for additional maintenance, $4,200 for a recreation assistant, $4,000 for additional salaries and $5,000 for capital outlays.

Weather
Warm, summer weather continued yesterday as temperatures rose to 88 degrees in Cumberland during the day. Low for the 24-hour period was recorded at 59 degrees at the Constitution Park weather station and yesterday's humidity was 43.5 per cent. At 8 o'clock last night the mercury registered 79 degrees. Today's forecast is warm and humid with scattered showers and thunderstorms.

Births Lead Deaths
Births outnumbered deaths almost three to one here last month, according to a Health Department report to the Mayor and Council.

During May, a total of 135 births were reported in the city, with 47 deaths. Six cases of communicable diseases were reported.

ROBERT E. BARNARD JR.

Young Insurance Executive Named To School Board

Will Succeed Edward J. Ryan

Robert E. Barnard Jr., of 806 Buckingham Road, has been appointed a member of the Allegany County Board of Education and will replace Attorney Edward J. Ryan, of Frostburg, whose term expired last month.

The commission signed by Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin, which arrived at the Allegany County Court House yesterday, stated that Barnard's term was for six years from the first Monday in May. However, under the county School Board law all board members are to be appointed for five-year terms with one term expiring each year.

His term became effective on the first Monday of last month. Barnard, 31, is probably the youngest county resident ever appointed to the board.

A Democrat, he is a partner in the Barnes, Barnard and Geare Insurance Agency located in the Clark-Keating Building.

Barnard last night said that this is the first time he has been appointed to such a position. He is a member of the Board of the Allegany County Heart Association and was also chairman of the classified section of the local Community Chest last year.

A veteran of World War II, Barnard saw action in Europe and served in Italy, France, and Germany. He was overseas for 26 months and was with the 45th Infantry Division.

A member of Emmanuel Episcopal Church, he is also a member of Potomac Lodge 100, A. F. and A. M.; Scottish Rite; Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion; Cumberland Rotary Club and the Cumberland Country Club.

Barnard is married and the father of two children.

Other members of the Board of Education are Kenneth R. Malcolm, Westernport, president; Mrs. Albert C. Cook, Frostburg, vice-president; Mrs. Stanley Buckley, LaVale, and W. Earle Cobey, also of Cumberland.

Nancy Long Wins Seminary Honors

Nancy Long, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Donald Long, LaVale, was graduated yesterday from the upper division of St. Mary's Seminary Junior College at St. Mary's City in Southern Maryland with an associate in arts degree.

Miss Long was awarded the Sarah Burch Palmer memorial prize for outstanding character and influence for good and also the Matthe M. Key prize in music.

She has been active the past school year as vice-president of Student Council, chairman of Assembly Committee, vice-president of Home Economics Club, House Committee, Choir, accompanist, yearbook staff, dramatics, senior class May Day princess, intramurals and portrayed Mistress Margaret Brent in the annual "Birth of Tolerance" pageant conducted in Maryland's oldest community.

Zoning Plan Proposed For New Highway

Ask Industrial Area South Of New Road

The Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission yesterday proposed a rezoning program for portions of the city affected by the proposed Industrial Boulevard segment of the Crosstown Expressway program.

The three-part program would provide:

That all land on the south side of the west lane of the boulevard be zoned for industrial uses.

That the north side of the boulevard, about 225 feet parallel to and concentric with the limits of the highway, be zoned for business use to Thomas Street.

That all land between the east and west lanes, from Vancouver Street to Thomas Street, be made a business zone.

James Alfred Avirett, chairman, said the board's recommendation is in line with current zoning practices, which call for gradations between zones.

Will Be Mapped
The board will submit a formal recommendation to the Mayor and Council, along with a request that the Engineering Department prepare a map showing the effect of the zoning plan.

Avirett pointed out that this map would be needed for the public hearing the board must hold before any formal action could be taken on the proposal.

The board ordered read and filed a letter from the Board of Zoning Appeals recommending the rezoning of portions of Bedford and Frederick Streets.

The board asked that Bedford Street be rezoned business from the end of the present business zone near Decatur Street to Valentine Street, and that Frederick Street be made a business zone from Linden Street to Valentine Street.

It was pointed out that the proposal is about the same as one suggested about a year and a half ago.

The board said the plan should be filed until the industrial boulevard plan is settled.

Seek Subdivision Law
Mayor Roy W. Eves pointed out that since Frederick Street is being improved, and residents are taking more interest in the street as a residential area, the plan will face opposition.

Avirett said the Planning Commission is also interested in action soon on a good ordinance on subdivisions to ensure proper development of streets and to keep people who are now moving to the suburbs in Cumberland.

The board termed the city's efforts toward an additional water supply as "sound planning."

Today, the Evitts Creek Water Company is to hear a report on data compiled by the Engineering Department on the feasibility of building a third dam in the Lake Gordon area.

Freight Car Burglarized At Frostburg

Thief Leaves Note Saying He's Sorry

A brazen thief who left a note in a small ornamental mail box stating he was "sorry I had to do this," broke into a boxcar on the Western Maryland Railway siding at the C&P freight house in Frostburg sometime over the weekend, stealing a large amount of cargo from the railroad car.

Railroad police found the note, printed on a small piece of paper, tucked into one of a number of small cedar mail boxes which were part of the freight car's cargo. The box, similar to a rural mail box with a small flag on the side, was placed where it could be seen easily with its flag raised, indicating there was mail inside.

Railway Special Agent C. H. Barnard, who along with Agent H. W. Davis and Maryland State Police is investigating the theft, said last night the entry into the boxcar was discovered by the freight agent at Frostburg yesterday morning.

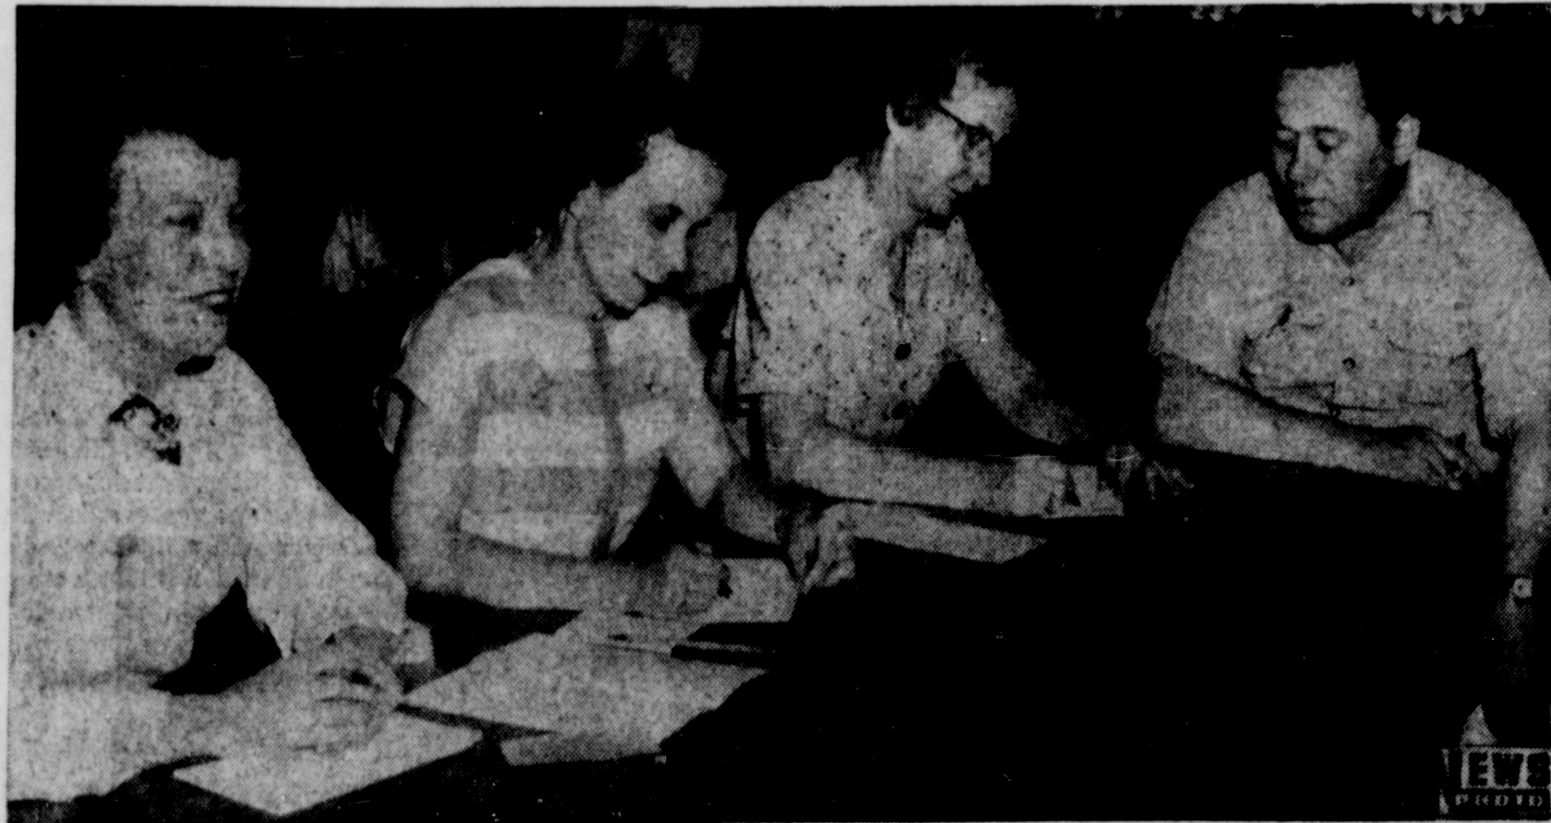

The authorities declined last night to estimate how much was taken from the boxcar, which was fully loaded with goods consigned to warehouses and stores in Frostburg, pending further probe into the theft.

Much of the railway car's consignment included automobile tires, electrical tools, automotive parts, tobacco, cigarettes, household ornaments and other items. The car had been loaded in Cumberland and shipped to Frostburg on Friday, remaining on the railroad siding over the weekend. It contained over four tons of goods.

When the freight agent, S. D. Murray, reported for work yesterday and prepared to have the boxcar unloaded he discovered the seal on the door had been broken.

Investigation proved entry had been made and that some 10 or 12 cardboard cartons in which some of the goods were packed had been torn open.

Cumberland police also are aiding in the investigation and authorities said last night that several important clues were found which may aid the apprehension of the culprit.

Register For Emergency

of the project, Miss Anna Durst and Miss Eudore Jochum and Cozad. Mrs. Parsons said the number of registrants was encouraging and future registrations will stem from last night's project. Among those registering last night were persons qualified in first aid, driving and home nursing. This is the forerunner of a county-wide program.
